BOY, 15, KILLS SELF
PLAYING WITH PISTOL
Emory Nieman, Thought Weapon Was Not Loaded, Playmate Says.

Emory Nieman, 15-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Nieman, 6016 Maple avenue, accidentally shot himself to death with a revolver he thought was not loaded.
The accident occurred in the hallway of the Nieman home at 1:00 o'clock this afternoon. A .38-caliber bullet entered the boy's right temple. He was dead when a neighborhood physician arrived.

The only witness to the shooting is a little girl, Marie Dalsor
of Sheridan, Ark., who with her parents is visiting the Nieman family. She and Emory were playing in the hallway. He had found the revolver somewhere and showed it to Marie.

"See," he said, "it won't go off."
He pointed the muzzle at his head and pulled the trigger.
Police reported that the revolver
belonged to Nieman and that Emory had got it from a hiding place in the house of manufacture of one cartridge in the cylinder. Apparently the boy snapped the hammer against several empty chambers before the loaded one came around.

TREASURY ABANDONS PLAN TO REPLENISH WHISKY STOCK
Lawman Says Withdrawals Have Decreased and There Is No
Present Medicinal Need.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—The Treasury has abandoned proposals for the resumption of manufacture of medicinal liquor this year, Assistant Secretary Lowman said today. Lowman said the decision was reached after a conference with Commissioner Dornan of the Prohibition Bureau and was based on a decrease in liquor withdrawals for medicinal purposes.

Without disclosing the number of gallons on hand, Lowman said
there would be a sufficient supply
to make unnecessary the immediate resumption of manufacturing.
Lowman declared that additional whisky for medicinal purposes might not be needed for several years, inasmuch as "an enormous stock" was on hand. Withdrawals last year amounted to 1,588,000 gallons, he said.

The plan which had been considered was the setting up of several corporations for the manufacture of whisky under Government supervision.

AUTO BATTERIES ARE NOT TAXABLE, U. S. JUDGE RULES
By the Associated Press.
PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 9.—Federal Judge O. B. Dickinson said today that storage batteries are not taxable accessories under the Federal excise rate of 5 per cent of the selling price.

The decision was considered of far-reaching importance to the au-

EXONERATED OF KILLING WIFE HE TOOK FOR BURGLAR
Coroner's Jury at Kirkwood Clears A. C. Albright, Who Shot Her in the Dark.

HUSBAND SOBS
AS HE TESTIFIES
Deputy Sheriff Gives Evidence at Inquest That Mrs. Albright Absolved
Her Husband.

Adolph C. Albright was exonerated today by a Coroner's jury at Kirkwood for any blame in the fatal shooting of his wife, Mary,
whom he mistook for a burglar at midnight Sunday.

The sobbing husband described,
with many pauses to compose himself, how his nerves played him a trick and how his wife's scream told him the tragic result. The shooting occurred in the kitchen
of their home at 7121 Woodrow avenue, Pine Lawn.

Mrs. Albright, shot through the right side of the abdomen died
last night following an operation
at the Tiernon Hospital.

Husband Describes Shooting.
"My wife and I were asleep in the same bed," Albright related.
"She awakened and got up to go to the bathroom. I did not wake up. I did not hear her leave the room. She walked back into the kitchen. A bit later I got up to go to the bathroom. I did not notice my wife was gone from the bed. On the way to the bathroom I looked into the kitchen and saw a form shadowed against the door."

"I had been robbed about six months ago and had been on the lookout for burglars. I thought it was a burglar. I saw. I tiptoed back to the bedroom and got a revolver from a small satchel in corner. I was too engrossed to look to make sure my wife was in bed. I went back along the hall toward the kitchen. The shadow advanced toward me. I backed a few steps and as it continued to advance I fired."

"My wife screamed. I turned on the light and saw I had shot
her. She was bleeding so badly
I took her right to the hospital.
We never saw any trouble. I loved my wife and didn't mean to shoot
her."

Wife Exonerated Husband.
Deputy Sheriff Larry Sheller of St. Louis County testified he talked with Mrs. Albright at the Tiernon Hospital. He said she told him
she had heard a dog barking and got up to see what was causing the disturbance. On their way back to the bedroom she heard a shot and fell. She said she was sure her husband had shot accidentally,
the officer testified.

"When we were in the water, I suggested, 'Let's go below.' She objected, but just in fun. I made her go down twice. Then I climbed out and left her hanging
to the dock. She seemed to be all right like that, so I didn't pay
much attention."

COTTON PRICES REACH NEW HIGH LEVEL, DROP SHARPLY
Advances of $5.70 to $7.20 a Bale
For Day Offset and Net
Average Is About $2.50.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—Cotton prices advanced $5.70 to $7.20 a bale to new high levels for the season on the New York Cotton Exchange today in further reflection of an unexpectedly small Government crop estimate, and then broke sharply on profit-taking sales. The day's net gains on the active options averaged about $2.50
a bale.

Buying sentiment was strengthened by reports of excessive rains
in Oklahoma and Arkansas, and predictions of showery weather in many sections of the belt.

ILLINOIS LEGISLATOR CHARGED WITH STABBING MAN OVER DEBT
Near Death at Rantoul Hospital, Victim Says Harry McCaskrin Owed Him for Labor.

By the Associated Press.
CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Aug. 9.— William Harry of Rantoul is near death in a hospital here, as the result of an altercation with State Representative Harry M. McCas-krin of Rock Island. Harry said
he was stabbed during an argument
over a debt owed him, but would not prosecute if his hospital bill was paid.

There is a knife wound six inches below Harry's heart. Mc-Caskrin, two hours after the stabbing, had not been arrested. Harry said McCaskrin owed him a small sum for cleaning snow off a roof
last winter.

MAN WHO DUCKED
GIRL IS ACCUSED OF MANSLAUGHTER
Coroner's Jury Holds Ray
Collins, 20, Responsible for the Drowning of Dorothy Wulferf.

HE TELLS HIS STORY
ON WITNESS STAND
Says He Left Her Clinging
to Dock, Swam Away and When He Came Back She Was Gone.

A Coroner's verdict of manslaughter, growing out of the drowning of Miss Dorothy Wul-ferf in the Meramec River near Drake Sunday, was returned at Kirkwood today against Ray Collins, 20 years old, of 5211 Cabanne
avenue, a car repairer's helper.

Collins was arrested immediately
after the inquest this morning and taken to the Clayton Jail. He was released this afternoon under $5000
bond signed by his mother, Mrs.
Annie Collins. He will be given a preliminary hearing next Tuesday
before Justice of the Peace Peters at Kirkwood.

On the witness stand, he told how he met Miss Wulferf on a swimming dock and proposed they go into the water although she protested she was not a swimmer.
Collins said he playfully dropped her into the river and after going under the water twice with her, left her hanging on the dock.

"If the Nieman family had a few strokes," he said, "and when I came back she was not there."
Miss Wulferf, who was 18 years old and lived at 1749 Mississippi avenue, was spending the week-end with a party of eight at the Mansion Club, Drake. Her sister, Viola, 23, was in the party.

Testifies Voluntarily.
Collins came to the inquest voluntarily when he read in newspapers that it had been set for today and he was wanted as a witness, he told Prosecuting Attorney
Mueller under cross-examination.
He said he remained at the scene
until the body was found Sunday afternoon.

His story agreed in its principal details with the testimony of the sister, Lowell Stevens of 4428A McPherson avenue, and Floyd Hall of Mountain Ridge, Mo., who were in the vicinity when Miss Wulferf was drowned. None of them actually saw her sink.

"I had known Miss Wulferf about a year," Collins related.
"I danced with her last Saturday night at Drake. Sometime before noon Sunday I met her on the dock and said, 'Let's go swimming.' She said she couldn't swim very well, but I said, 'Let's go in anyway.' She was laughing and playfully picked her up and dropped her into the water."

"When we were in the water, I
suggested, 'Let's go below.' She objected, but just in fun. I made
her go down twice. Then I
climbed out and left her hanging
to the dock. She seemed to be all right like that, so I didn't pay
much attention."

No Violence Expected.
Police expressed the belief there would be no disturbances in connection with the strike, but every precaution was taken.
Besides the assignment of extra police at the meeting places, armored motorcycles were held in readiness and special automobiles carrying tear bombs were prepared for use in case of emergency.

Appeal to Governor.
Identical resolutions, addressed to Gov. Fuller of Massachusetts, were adopted at all the meetings
of the strike committee, said shortly before noon that 145,000 workers
had walked out this morning. He based his assertion on reports he
had received from officers of local unions.

Levinson said he was informed that 5000 members of the Pocketbook Makers' Union had joined the strike, 55,000 clothing workers, 12,000 cap workers, 25,000 Jewish workers on the East Side, and 45, 000 clock makers.

March on Jail.
The Sacco-Vanzetti Emergency Committee, the membership of which is largely Communist, has issued an appeal for workers to go to Boston to take part in the march on Charlestown prison tomorrow night. The Sacco-Vanzetti Defense Committee is organizing sympathizers to the prison wearing black mourning armbands and to wait outside the gates until the execution early Thursday.

Rose Baron, secretary of the Sacco-Vanzetti Emergency Committee, announced her committee
expected to send three bus loads of persons to Boston. Her committee, she said, had received word that the prisoners would be executed on the 14th.

NO VIOLENCE IN ONE-DAY WALKOUT
Communitistic Committee
Appeals for Workers to Take Part in March on Massachusetts Prison.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—The demonstrations and one-day strikes protesting against the impending execution of Nicola Sacco and Bar-toloomeo Vanzetti reached a climax here today with a monster meeting in Union Square.

Long before 4 o'clock, the hour
for the meeting, the park was filled. Police estimated that about 100,000 persons had gathered.

Smaller meetings in the park were dispersed by police before the main meeting was called. Patrolmen were stationed on the tops of all the buildings overlooking the park to prevent the throwing of missiles down on the demonstrators.

Literature, calling on President
Coolidge and Gov. Fuller, of Massachusetts to halt the execution of the two Boston radicals was distributed. No violence was reported as the crowd grew to its maximum number.

The strike, which Sacco-Van-zettis sympathizers said would bring out 500,000 persons, began in orderly manner. The workers left their places of employment quietly and proceeded without disturbance
to various meeting places.

Edward Levinson, secretary of the strike committee, said shortly
before noon that 145,000 workers
had walked out this morning. He
based his assertion on reports he

Appeals to President Have Been Referred to Department of Justice—He Regards Case as Purely Massachusetts' Affair.

By the Associated Press.
RAPID CITY, S. D., Aug. 9.—
It was reiterated at the summer
White House today that President Coolidge considers the Sacco-Van-zettis case entirely a matter for the Massachusetts courts.

The President knows of no appeal to him by the Sacco-Vanzetti defense counsel.
Recommendations for clemency have reached Mr. Coolidge from time to time, but to him on what is considered to be the erroneous impression that the United States Government has an interest in the case. These have been referred to the Department of Justice.

Uruguayan Chamber Urges Coolidge to Stop the Executions.
By the Associated Press.
MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, Aug. 9.—
The Chamber of Deputies sent a cablegram to President Coolidge
last night asking that Sacco and Vanzetti not be executed. The Chamber previously had rejected a Communist motion not to hold a session today as a protest against the death sentence passed on the two men.

Police and soldiers are being held in readiness to cope with any emergency which may arise in consequence of the general 24-hour strike which has been called for today. Several regiments of troops have been moved from the country to a point 20 miles from the capital. Police redoubled their vigilance to guard the United States Legation and Consulate and American business houses.

By the Associated Press.
LOCARNO, Aug. 9.—The Americans at the conference of educational fellowship, which is meeting
here, called the following message
to President Coolidge yesterday:
"We observe the deep concern which exists here, in the minds of the many nationalities represented, toward Sacco and Vanzetti.

We appeal to you for action."
Russian Christian Sect in Appeal

Christianity.

Congressman Victor Berger Asks Coolidge to Intervene.
MILWAUKEE, Wis., Aug. 9.— Victor L. Berger, Socialist Congressman from Milwaukee, today appealed to President Coolidge to intervene in the Sacco-Vanzetti case. His telegram to the President followed:
"President Wilson intervened in the cases of Tom Mooney and Joe Gill, California and Utah. Department of Justice under Mitchell Palmer was very rotten and its actions and accounts ought to be investigated. Also its activity in connection with Sacco and Van-zettis. In view of the international excitement which this case has caused I most respectfully suggest again that you intervene
until it is made clear that the men were not framed. If the men are guilty, the courts will still have them to punish, but if they are innocent, a fearful crime may thus be prevented."

aviator, stationed at France Field,
was killed this morning when his plane, flying in a heavy rain over Gatun Lake, near here, struck the

DECISION COVERS
MOTIONS FOR STAY
AND REVOKING OF DEATH SENTENCE
Supreme Court Asked to Reverse Sanderson's Denial of Writ of Error—Other Appeals Likely.

GOVERNOR WILL BE URGED TO GRANT STAY
More Than 40 Arrests Follow Picketing of State House by Men Wearing
Crepe and Carrying Signs

By the Associated Press.
BOSTON, Mass., Aug. 9.—Judge Webster Thayer in Superior Court
at Dedham today denied motions
by defense counsel for a revocation of the death sentence and for a stay of execution for Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti. Their respite expires at midnight Wednesday. Thayer, presiding at the trial of the two men for murder
six years ago.

The decision was made known in the form of a telephone call from Judge Thayer, at his home in Worcester, to the clerk of the Norfolk County Court.

The text of the decision as written by Judge Thayer at his home was on its way to Dedham in the hands of a Deputy Sheriff when the clerk announced that he had been notified of it by the Judge.

Text of Decision.
The text of the decision follows:
The motion for revocation of sentence and stay of execution is herby denied. To the denial of this motion, the defendants duly saved all rights to which they are entitled as a matter of law,
whether by exceptions, appeal or otherwise.

The text of the decision was made known before the official copy reached the courthouse here.
Judge Thayer was at his home in Worcester and word received from there that he would add nothing
to the brief ruling.

Leaves Way Open for Appeal.
Lawyers explained, however, that by the second sentence of his decision the Judge left the way open to the defense counsel for an appeal to the Massachusetts Supreme Court, this sentence preserving for the condemned men any right to take exceptions that their counsel might have had, if the decision had been announced in open court.

Thirty pickets with placards
sympathetic to Sacco and Vanzetti appeared outside the State House at 3 o'clock this afternoon. Almost simultaneously a wagon load of policemen arrived and took stations along the sidewalks. No effort was made to arrest the pickets, who kept moving.

The number of pickets soon grew to about 100. Several placards were carried and each picket wore a black band on his arm which the wearer explained was in mourning
for "the death of justice in this State."

Between 40 and 50 of the pickets were arrested following their failure to heed police warnings to leave the street.

Supt. Crowley, who personally led the large body of police on the scene, had repeatedly told the pickets that if they did not leave the sidewalk arrest would follow.

Many of the placards the pickets carried mentioned President A.
Lawrence Lowell of Harvard, a member of Gov. Fuller's Advisory Committee in the case. On one appeared the legend, "It is not every prisoner who has the president of a university throw the switch on his execution."

Whether the execution of Sacco and Vanzetti is to take place as scheduled, sometime after midnight
tomorrow night, or is to be deferred while their counsel continue the legal moves to save them, full in the end, rest with Gov. Fuller.
Should the State Supreme Court consent to consider an appeal from Judge Thayer's rulings, attorneys said the execution could be halted.

POLICE OF FRANCE ROUT PROTESTERS AT U. S. CONSULATE

Some Sacco-Vanzetti Demonstrators and Few Gendarmes Hurt in Clash in Cherbourg.

TROUBLE IN NANTES AND IN MARSEILLES

Fifteen Thousand Attend Mass Meeting in Stockholm, Sweden, and Adopt Resolutions.

By the Associated Press. CHERBOURG, France, Aug. 9.—A crowd demonstrating in front of the United States Consulate here last night against the forthcoming execution of Sacco and Vanzetti, swept through the police barrier about the building and sang the national anthem until the arrival of police reserves who dispersed them. A few of the demonstrators and some police suffered slight injuries. The demonstration followed a parade through the city and a public meeting at which resolutions were adopted. These were addressed to the United States, to Samuel H. Wiley, and demanded the release of Sacco and Vanzetti. Police ultimately succeeded in restoring order.

Demonstrations in France End in Fight With Police.

By the Associated Press. PARIS, Aug. 9.—Demonstrations of sympathy with Sacco and Vanzetti, some of which ended in fights with police, were held last night in several French industrial centers. Besides the clash in front of the United States Consulate at Cherbourg, there was trouble at Marseilles and Nantes.

The United States flag was burned Sunday evening at Casa Blanca, Morocco, during a demonstration in favor of Sacco and Vanzetti held in front of the United States Consulate in the Place de France, says a dispatch to Le Matin. Police dispersed the demonstrators who threw stones, breaking windows in the Consulate. Several arrests were made.

Argentinians Return to Work Pending Demonstration Thursday.

By the Associated Press. BUENOS AIRES, Aug. 9.—Sporadic strikes continue in the provinces but workers of Buenos Aires have returned to their jobs after three days of strike in protest against the forthcoming execution of Sacco and Vanzetti. The present resumption of work is said to be only a lull before a storm planned for Thursday, the date set for the execution of Sacco and Vanzetti. The principal labor unions have instructed the workers of the whole country to join in a general strike of 24 hours, beginning at 6 o'clock on the day of execution.

In issuing orders for the general strike, the Union Sindical Argentina has sent to all the affiliated unions of the country the following explanation: "We have decided to carry out this strike because we understand that the proletariat must not tolerate in silence the day of the 10th, as this date is one set by the justice of Yankee capitalism to slaughter our comrades who have fully proved their innocence of the crime imputed to them. We expect that all efforts will be made to see that absolutely no one works on Wednesday."

Two great newspapers, La Nación and La Prensa, which until yesterday had refrained from comment on the case, printed long editorials. They said that although the decisions of justice must be respected, clemency should be accorded to this instance, not only because of the torture which the two men must have endured during the seven years in prison, but in view of the world's clamor for clemency. The papers added that this world-wide appeal was moved by a sentiment of pity.

In this connection, el Nacion said: "Gov. Fuller did not take into account this spontaneous impulse of the world. His decision means a serious political error inasmuch as it did not heed the eagerness, so deeply expressed, with singular unity, by all nations. It is still not too late to satisfy this petition."

15,000 Attend Stockholm Meeting and Adopt Resolution.

By the Associated Press. STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Aug. 9.—A crowd estimated at 15,000 assembled last night in the main square to protest against the fate of Sacco and Vanzetti. The meeting was addressed by George Branting, Swedish lawyer, who studied the case in Boston, but the demonstrators adopted a resolution protesting against the death sentence and urging a new trial for the men. There was no disorder.

Death Threat Against U. S. Envoy in Denmark.

By the Associated Press. COPENHAGEN, Aug. 9.—A letter received by the newspaper Berlingske Tidende and published in the evening edition says with reference to Sacco and Vanzetti: "If the two Italians are killed, members of the American Legation will be killed. Prevention is useless." While the threat is apparently not taken seriously by the authorities, the possibility of some disturbance Thursday, following the execution, is recognized, and the American Legation will be especially guarded.

Appeals to Governor to Commute Sentence on Basis of Committee Report and Its Rebuke of Judge

Springfield, Mass., Republican Points Out Advisers Did Not Justify Execution—Says State Is on Trial Before the World.

By the Associated Press. SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Aug. 9.—The Springfield Republican printed yesterday an editorial entitled "Final Appeal to Governor Fuller." It follows: "Your Excellency: You have wisely published the full text of the report made to you by your Advisory Committee in the Sacco-Vanzetti case. Inasmuch as this must be a final appeal to you to prevent the execution of the prisoners on Wednesday night, we will assume nothing that cannot be corroborated in the Advisory report itself.

"Our appeal is for commutation of sentence to imprisonment for life. Discussing this extraordinary case last Friday morning, on the basis of your own public statement, this newspaper declared that it had never been convinced on the evidence that Sacco and Vanzetti were innocent, but that it would have been satisfied with commutation of the death sentence to imprisonment for life on the ground that a doubt of guilt existed sufficient to prevent execution. In order that the discovery of new evidence later on might find the defendants still above ground and in a position to profit by a turn of events conceivably favorable to them."

"It was also argued that, on the high ground of public policy, circumstances involving world-wide doubt, unrest and even turmoil would make commutation advisable. 'Rightly or wrongly, hundreds of thousands of people outside of this State will regard the execution Wednesday night with feelings of compassion for the accused rather than with feelings of horror for the crime, and that in itself is an evil.'

Question of Public Policy. "We respectfully call your Excellency's attention to the fact that your Advisory Committee's report is not necessarily hostile to commutation of sentence to life imprisonment. The report nowhere advises against it. One may infer that execution is the logical result of the committee's analysis of the case, but the committee was not confronted with the question of public policy on the wisdom of executing the death sentence. You are.

"In direct consequence of a question now arises that must affect the honor and the fame of the commonwealth in the future of the world. It will prove immemorially more troublesome if the condemned men are put to death.

"The committee felt constrained to criticize Judge Webster Thayer in these words: 'We are forced to conclude that the Judge was indiscreet in conversation with outsiders during the trial. He ought not to have talked about the case off the bench, and doing so was a grave breach of official decorum.' 'But, in minimizing the offense of Judge Thayer, the committee was still forced to recognize in his conduct a grave breach of official decorum.'"

Standard For Judge. "We must note with special care the use of the word 'official.' May not your Excellency perceive that, in the opinion of your Advisory Committee, the conduct of the Judge outside of the courtroom, while the trial was proceeding, must be tested by official, not private, standards, and that the Judge's breach of 'official decorum' was 'grave,' and that, if it was 'grave,' it must taint irrevocably the record of the Sacco-Vanzetti case to all time?"

"It will be on the lips of every curstome fomentor of disorder, quoting your committee's report, that the judge who tried Sacco and Vanzetti was guilty of a 'grave breach of official decorum,' and the malignant mischief that can be done by that phrase in the mouths of promoters of industrial and social strife in the years to come appeals the imagination.

"Such being the incontestable fact, the accused men should not be put to death unless the official conduct of the judge who presided at the trial was beyond rebuke, above reproach.

Not an Appeal for Pardon. "This is an appeal for commutation of the death penalty to imprisonment for life, not for pardon, or for a reversal of the verdict of guilty. The question now urged on your excellency is not even whether the accused were proven guilty beyond a 'reasonable doubt.' The remaining question is whether there is doubt enough to justify commutation to life imprisonment, a penalty visited on many a confessed murderer in Massachusetts.

"After conceding the agency and force and skill with which your advisory committee have presented their conclusions, one is compelled, but of long consideration, to the only voice raised in favor of the Massachusetts authorities is that of the die-hard organ, the Morning Post, and even it admits that the six-year delay in the case is not in accordance with English ideas of justice.

PREPARATION FOR SACCO-VANZETTI EXECUTIONS MADE

Official Observers Selected and Notified Hour of Their Deaths Will Be Early Thursday.

By the Associated Press. BOSTON, Aug. 9.—The authorities at Charlestown State prison yesterday made preparations for the execution of Sacco and Vanzetti in the electric chair, early Thursday morning.

The official observers selected to witness the deaths are Dr. George Hendry, at Charlestown State prison yesterday made preparations for the execution of Sacco and Vanzetti in the electric chair, early Thursday morning.

A minute inspection of the state prison walls was made today by Deputy Superintendent Goode of the Boston police and Warden Hendry. Particular attention was paid to the Rutherford avenue side near the death house where Sacco and Vanzetti are confined. It is understood that the police are considering a plan to place machine guns at intervals along the walls tomorrow.

Sacco and Vanzetti do not speak to the guards at all. They do not talk to each other. They sit on the floor of their cells for hours at a time, only to get up and pace slowly up and down the narrow limits of their cells. Suddenly they go to their desks and write feverishly for some time, only to sink back on their cot as if exhausted.

Madeiras tries to sleep as much as possible. He eats heartily and sinks back to his cot, shuts his eyes and lives there as long as possible.

Following an appeal sent to President Coolidge, the Defense Committee also sent one to Col. Charles A. Lindbergh. The message to the President said: "Sacco and Vanzetti die Wednesday night. We respectfully appeal to you to follow the precedent set by President Wilson in the Moon case. Because of the relation of the Federal Government to the Sacco-Vanzetti case through the United States Department of Justice, we ask you to appeal to Governor Fuller to respite the execution of Sacco and Vanzetti pending your investigation."

The telegram to Col. Lindbergh follows: "Sacco and Vanzetti die Wednesday night. All good will in Europe for America by your magnificent flight now destroyed by the pending execution of two radicals, Sacco and Vanzetti, according to the New York Times foreign correspondent. We appealed to President Coolidge to follow Wilson's precedent in the Moon case; to appoint a commission to inquire into the entire case, including data in files Department of Justice, which investigated the two doomed men. We desperately pleaded in the name of your father's humanitarian ideals to appeal to Coolidge in this hour of America's judgment on scales of international justice to save America's honor."

FORD OPPOSES EXECUTION OF SACCO AND VANZETTI

Favors Giving Them Rehearing If There Is Any Doubt About Fairness of First Trial.

By the Associated Press. DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 9.—Regardless of the fairness or the unfairness of the trial of Sacco and Vanzetti, they should not be executed, Henry Ford said today in reiterating his disbelief in capital punishment. "I do not know much about the court record of the case," Ford said. "If there is any doubt about the fairness of their trial, they should be given a new trial, but in any event they should not be killed. We cannot approve the state's doing what we would not do ourselves. Killing of human beings is always an act of vengeance. I can't see it any other way. I don't believe in it."

DEATH OF SLAYER OF TWO LAID TO WORRY OVER CRIME

O. H. May, Broker, Who Murdered Wife and Another Man, Dies in Hospital.

By the Associated Press. KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 9.—Worry because he had killed his wife and Carl H. Roberts, an underwriter, is said to have caused the death last night of O. H. May, a loan broker.

Last Wednesday May shot and killed his wife and Roberts, of whom he was jealous. He was taken to jail and later to a hospital, where he lapsed into unconsciousness and died.

DIES FROM EFFECTS OF BLOWS

Tom Ellis of Ash Grove, Mo., Succumbs to Assaults.

By the Associated Press. SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Aug. 9.—Unconscious for 83 hours, Tom Ellis of Ash Grove, Mo., died in a hospital here this morning the victim of an assault by Edgar Todd on the main street of Ash Grove Friday night. A charge of second degree murder will be filed today against Todd. It was announced by prosecuting Attorney W. W. Hamilton that Todd was arrested soon after the affray, which is said to have resulted from an old grudge between the two men, and brought to the county jail here.

Ellis was knocked unconscious by Todd's blows and attending physicians said he suffered a fracture at the base of the skull. He never regained consciousness.

Judge Refuses to Delay Sacco-Vanzetti Executions

only by another respite by the Governor. Appeal to Supreme Court. Counsel for Vanzetti and Sacco today filed with the clerk of the State Supreme court an appeal from the decision yesterday of Supreme Judge Sanderson denying the condemned men a writ of error.

The petition, which was filed by Richard C. Evans, alleges that the denial of the writ constituted a violation of the defendants' rights under both the Massachusetts and the Federal constitutions. Before the appeal can go before the full bench of the Supreme Court it must be passed on by the judge whose rulings are the basis of the exceptions taken by the lawyers—in this case Judge Sanderson.

The move was taken as a step in the efforts of the defense to take every possible step in the State courts before seeking action in the Federal courts, to which, as yet, no appeal has been made. The petition probably will go before Judge Sanderson tomorrow morning and should he approve it, it then would go before the full bench of the Supreme Court. How soon this would be possible was uncertain.

Gov. Fuller later today granted an interview to Attorney Hill, chief of defense counsel. The announced purpose of the interview was to urge a stay of execution on the ground that the case is still in the courts.

Judge Answers Critics. The case came before Judge Thayer in Dedham yesterday in the same courtroom where the men were tried and in the same room where they were sentenced four months ago. The scene was hardly less dramatic than those that have preceded it in the long fight waged by the two men. The courtroom was heavily guarded by Deputy Sheriffs and State and local police.

The doors were barred and guards stood about the corridors. Judge Thayer arrived from his home in Worcester under guard when he left the courtroom.

For the first time since he became the center of charges involving his conduct of the trial, Judge Thayer took official cognizance of the allegations of prejudice directed against him by the condemned men and by their supporters. From the bench, after announcing his decision refusing the motion for a new trial, he defended his official conduct and denied any prejudice on his part. The record of the case, he said, would show what his conduct had been.

"We must be governed by the record," he said. "That I am to be judged by. What I said and what I did from the opening of these cases I am ready to be judged by. With reference to the question of prejudice: There is not any now and there never was at any time." Alleged prejudice on the part of Judge Thayer by which counsel contended the two men were denied a fair trial was the principal basis of the defense plea. Attorney Hill argued the motion. Attorney General Arthur K. Reading opposed them as the State's representative.

In arguing for a new trial Attorney Hill declared it was impossible for any man, after having gone through seven years of litigation, to render an impartial judgment, and he read to the Court a portion of the report of the Advisory Committee named by Gov. Fuller in which the committee commented on prejudicial statements attributed to Judge Thayer outside of court. The judge asked him to look up the statutory definition of prejudice.

"Will you look up the authorities?" Judge Thayer asked. "Perhaps I am asking too much. I have looked them up and I have spent considerable time myself on this for when my honor is involved there is nothing that touches my heart and conscience more."

Attorney-General Reading said the defense had had every opportunity in the courts to protect themselves and he added, "The rights of these defendants do not transcend the laws of the commonwealth." The condemned men, he said, had had his lawyers and had been able to "protract these proceedings far beyond the ordinary time."

Judge Thayer gave his decision denying a new trial immediately after the lawyers concluded their arguments, explaining that after he was assigned by Chief Justice Hall of the Supreme Court to hear the motion he had spent much time in considering it and had come to the conclusion that the only point involved was that of jurisdiction in the courts.

TO BE SEEN TODAY IN FLIGHT OVER ST. LOUIS

Lindbergh to Return to Town for Second Flight.

BE IN CITY FOR TWO DAYS

Plans to Give All His Requests There Be Formalities.

Louis will have another opportunity to see "Wo" in flight this morning when Col. Charles A. Lindbergh will make his second visit to the home town since his transatlantic flight.

Coming southward from Chicago he will make his second visit to the home town since his transatlantic flight.

On the ground that became so famous to him as an air mail pilot, Lindbergh will be over the town section between 3 and 4 o'clock. After circling the town, he will continue to the field at Anglum, where he will be met by his comrades of the Division Air Corps.

During his visit in behalf of the promotion of aeronautics, Lindbergh is one stop in his national tour under auspices of the National Aeronautics Association.

He has requested, however, that he be no formalities during his visit because he is anxious to give all his time to meet his friends. On his first visit to his New York-Paris flight, there was a guard of honor of his financial backers, bankers, even though they were away without getting an opportunity to see him.

Yesterday night Lindbergh, a former captain in the Thirty-fifth Division Air Corps, will attend a banquet given in his honor by the National Guard unit which then flew in its annual encampment at the fair grounds.

He will be the first to give his merit as an aviator, a handsomely silver and trophy emblematic of his achievement will be presented to him by Major C. Ray Wassell, commanding officer of the Thirty-fifth Division Air Corps.

After the presentation of the trophy, Lindbergh will be the first to give his merit as an aviator, a handsomely silver and trophy emblematic of his achievement will be presented to him by Major C. Ray Wassell, commanding officer of the Thirty-fifth Division Air Corps.

ST. LOUIS LABOR CALLS FOR TONIGHT'S PROTEST

The local committee of the Sacco-Vanzetti defense, which has held two mass meetings in protest against the execution of the two Italian anarchists, announced tonight that its third protest meeting would be held at 8 o'clock tonight at City Hall steps, had been postponed.

The committee decided to attempt the City Hall meeting, after the police permit, after the Commission of Public Safety had authorized a meeting in the bus square, but voted to suggest that the last meeting be held at City Hall steps, had been postponed.

In its statement announcing the meeting would not be held, the committee said: "We call upon the friends of justice in St. Louis to support the Sacco-Vanzetti defense in the protest against the execution of these men and to use every legal means to use our voices in protest. We believe it is not too late at this hour to make a final appeal for a great effort."

The committee statement, signed by Elmer McMillan, representative of the International Labor Defense, and chairman, said: "The committee of the Sacco-Vanzetti defense, which has held two mass meetings in protest against the execution of the two Italian anarchists, announced tonight that its third protest meeting would be held at 8 o'clock tonight at City Hall steps, had been postponed."

Monday night Lindbergh, a former aviator, will explain in the Thirtieth Division Air Corps, will attend a banquet given in his honor by the National Guard unit which will then fly to its annual encampment at the flying field. As the first to give the merit as an airman, Lindbergh has planned to give function as a farewell affair.

Lindbergh left St. Louis for a second flight but he asked that he be postponed until after his completion of a handsome silver and trophy emblematic of his achievement will be presented to him by Master Sgt. Joseph Barker, president of the Thirtieth Division Air Corps flying.

Thursday's only function for the day will be a luncheon at Chamber of Commerce at which he is to speak. The balance of the day he will spend in watching, and participating in maneuvers of the air squadron, in which he is a flight leader, and in getting into the atmosphere of the field.

Details Being Arranged.

William Kusterer, representative of the Guggenheim Foundation, is in St. Louis today to arrange the informal reception of the flyer at the field. In connection with him during the day is Major C. Ray Wassell, commanding officer of the Thirtieth Division Air Corps; James A. Troy, chairman of Commerce, and Edward H. Hadden, chairman of the committee which handled Lindbergh's first reception.

Accompanying the flyer on his trip is Philip R. Love, a lieutenant in the Thirtieth Division Air Corps and a buddy of Lindbergh's in the army air service and on the mail route. Love is piloting a plane with Donald E. Key, of the Department of Commerce, and Theodore Sorenson, mechanic, as passengers.

LOUIS POST-DISPATCH

By the Associated Press.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 9.—The committee of the Sacco-Vanzetti defense, which has held two mass meetings in protest against the execution of the two Italian anarchists, announced tonight that its third protest meeting would be held at 8 o'clock tonight at City Hall steps, had been postponed.

President Coolidge Becomes Sioux Chief

ALABAMA PUNISHES FLOGGERS FOR FIRST TIME IN HISTORY

Seven Entrapped in Masked Attack on Former Sentenced to Imprisonment.

By the Associated Press.

ONEONTA, Ala., Aug. 9.—The sentencing yesterday of the last seven men who participated in the recent flogging of Jefferson Calhoun, a young farmer, set a precedent. It was the first time in the history of Alabama that anyone had been legally punished for taking part in floggings by masked gangs.

Dr. L. S. Fennell, Amos Covington, Paul Clayton, Chester Clayton and Clayton Clayton pleaded guilty yesterday to taking part in the flogging and were sentenced to six months in jail and fined $500 each. Dr. Fennell's sentence was suspended. A compromise between Charles C. McCall, State's Attorney-General, and Horace Wilkinson, chief of defense counsel, was made in these cases. Kidnaping indictments were nolle prossed and charges of inciting a riot substituted.

Eugene Doss and L. A. Clayton were sentenced to serve from eight to ten years each in State penitentiary in the same flogging case. They were the only persons found guilty of charges of kidnaping in Alabama for more than 40 years.

WORKER KILLED IN 80-FOOT FALL INTO GRAIN CHUTE

William Coomer Drops While Cleaning Bin at Burlington Elevator.

William Coomer, 30 years old, a laborer, of 1511 Menard street, was killed at 3 a. m. today in a 60-foot fall into a grain chute at the Burlington elevator at the foot of East Grand avenue.

He had been cleaning the top of the bin through which grain is dropped into freight cars. Fellow workers missed him and saw his body on the floor of the closed chute. Coomer was pulled to the top of the chute with a rope and taken to city hospital where he was pronounced dead.

MAN FINED $100 FOR DRIVING AUTO WHILE INTOXICATED

E. J. Chaplin Was Arrested After Knocking Down Three Lamp Posts in Forest Park.

Edward J. Chaplin, 211 Kraus street, was fined $100 today by Acting Police Judge Blaine for driving while intoxicated. Chaplin admitted in court having had "few drinks" a short time before his machine knocked down three cement lamp posts on Jefferson drive in Forest Park on the night of July 23.

Because Chaplin is the father of two children, Judge Blaine waived the usual 30-day workhouse sentence.

FAMOUS TRAPSHOOTER DIES

Great Gilbert Was Recognized as One of the Best Shots in World.

By the Associated Press.

WILMINGTON, Del., Aug. 9.—Fred Gilbert, widely known as a trapshooter, died last night at Spirit Lake, according to word received today by friends here. He was a representative of the Du Pont de Nemours Powder Company.

Gilbert became a professional trapshooter 21 years ago and was recognized as one of the best shots in the world. He retired from shooting three years ago.

GRAIN ELEVATOR DESTROYED BY $150,000 FIRE

Plant of Black and White Milling Co. in East St. Louis Scene of Spectacular Blaze.

A spectacular fire last night destroyed the grain elevator of the Black and White Milling Co., Thirty-fifth street and the Southern Railroad tracks, East St. Louis, with loss estimated by a company official at $150,000, fully insured.

The fire, of undetermined origin, was discovered at 9 o'clock by a night watchman. A general alarm was sounded and all available city apparatus employed, supplemented by the volunteer corps from the Aluminum Ore Co. across the street. Lines of hose were spread over the railroad tracks, tying up train traffic.

Several thousand spectators were attracted by the flames, visible throughout East St. Louis. The five-story elevator, partly filled with grain, burned rapidly. An extension of the elevator in which were bags and machinery for mixing poultry and livestock feed also was destroyed. Office, garage and warehouse buildings, some distance away, were saved. The fire was under control after two hours.

Capt. Thomas Burke of Engine Co. No. 3 was overcome by the heat and smoke.

Officers of the milling company are E. C. Andrews, president; E. C. Andrews Jr., vice president and treasurer; E. E. Dunmeyer, secretary.

DECISION ON RECEIVERSHIP FOR DECIMO CLUB DELAYED

New York Supreme Judge Hears Argument as to Alleged Squandering of Millions.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—Decision was reserved by the Supreme Court today as to whether the Decimo Club, Inc., and its two subsidiaries should be placed in receivership. The court was divided 4-4.

Upon application of the Attorney-General, the club had been temporarily enjoined from continuing its activities. The club was incorporated in Delaware for the announced purpose of promoting "the social and financial interests of its members." Supreme Court Justice Reigelman heard argument as to the alleged squandering of millions of dollars collected in dues and initiation fees from 65,000 members in 16 states. He gave counsel for both sides 15 days to submit briefs.

HEARING BEGUN IN SUIT OVER POSTING OF BASEBALL SCORES

Boyd-Richardson Co. Seeks Injunction Against Bold's Clothes Shop; Employees Testify.

A hearing began before Circuit Judge Rutledge today on the petition of the Boyd-Richardson Co. for an order restraining the Goldie Clothes Shop from posting baseball scores on the Sixth street side, near Olive street, opposite Boyd's.

Employees of the Boyd-Richardson Co. testified as many as 25 spectators assembled at one time on the sidewalk across from the Goldie Clothes Shop, blocking the view of Boyd's display windows and hampering ingress and egress to the store.

The Goldie shop, in defense, says the scores do not attract crowds large enough to interfere with business of the store and that such groups assemble to wait for the final score remain only a brief period.

TO INVESTIGATE "ENERGY BOX"

Jackson County Grand Jury Inquiry Into "Invention" Ordered.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 9.—A Jackson County grand jury will be asked to investigate the "energy box" device for drawing electricity from the "air," demonstrated Saturday by H. E. Perrigo, inventor, George M. Hussar, manager of the Better Business Bureau announced today. Fenton T. Stockard, State blue sky commissioner, also stated an investigation would be made by the State to determine if shares of stock had been sold during the last two years.

Perrigo, who claimed he had invented an electrical device to propel a motor car, maintained silence today following an investigation late yesterday which disclosed a concealed battery in the cushions of his automobile.

LINDBERGH AT INDIANAPOLIS

Makes Several Turns Above Soldiers and Sailors Monument.

By the Associated Press.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Aug. 9.—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh arrived at Indianapolis from Louisville at 1:45 o'clock this afternoon.

He made several graceful turns about the Indiana Soldiers and Sailors Monument as he did several weeks ago while en route from New York to St. Louis.

Author Poisoned by Insect.

By the Associated Press.

OWOSSO, Mich., Aug. 9.—James Oliver Curwood, author, is seriously ill at his home as a result of an infection which developed from an insect bite. His condition became grave yesterday but he rallied, however, this morning his condition was improved.

Unwritten Law Defense For Murder on High Seas

Negro Cook on U. S. Schooner Faces Hanging in Tower of New York Federal Building, if Convicted.

By Leased Wire from the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—In one of the dusty courtrooms on the third floor of the Federal Building they talked of "murder on the high seas," "death by hanging," "the credibility of seafaring men" and "the unwritten law," in the trial of Earl Battice, Negro, charged with the murder of his wife.

It is another chapter in the weird log of the American schooner Kingsway, the vessel that slipped into New York harbor a fortnight ago preceded by tales of mutiny, murder and bloodshed. The stories were strange enough, but not more so than the spectacle in the courtroom yesterday.

A year ago the Kingsway sailed from Perth Amboy on a voyage that sailors would insist had a spell cast over it. At San Juan, Porto Rico, Battice came on board, after the cook had deserted. He demanded that his wife be permitted to ship with him. Her presence, out of harmony with the credo of the sea, brought further trouble. She was, it is alleged, unduly friendly with members of the crew.

Just before the ship reached the gold coast of Africa in February, according to Government witnesses, Battice cut his wife's throat. He was placed in irons, but was permitted to return to the ship's galley after the crew had been made ill by the food that she did, and was swiftly executed.

If Battice is convicted and no recommendation for clemency is returned by the jury, he may be hanged in the tower of the Federal Building. The gallows has long been dismantled.

Case Depends On Sailors.

Assistant United States Attorney Simpson, looking as though he relished little the unusual task of prosecuting a capital case, wanted to know whether prospective jurors were opposed to the death penalty. Murder on the high seas, he reminded them, carried a possible sentence of death by hanging. The case would depend on the testimony of "seafaring men." Would they believe such testimony? Had they any prejudice against men who go down to the sea? Did an unfaithful wife deserve to be murdered? One bald headed tale-teller answered in a positive tone that she did, and was swiftly executed.

Death on Railroad Accident.

A Coroner's verdict of accident was returned today at Clayton in the case of Russell Lehrup, 25 years old, an employee of the Glencoe Line & Cement Co., at Mincke, Mo., whose body was found beside the Frisco railroad tracks West of Valley Park Sunday. His skull had been fractured. Investigation by the Sheriff's office indicated he had been struck by a train.

said, while playing barefoot as a boy. City Hospital physicians said this was possible.

Suppose your daughter were happy—that she really married for love—would her marriage please you then?" Nally asked the parents.

"Ah, yes," the mother agreed. "We married for love, so why should they not marry if they really love?"

The bride and her husband stepped from behind the door, their faces radiant. The mother and daughter embraced and the father shook hands with his new son-in-law.

"Well, Mr. Captain," the father exclaimed happily, "I guess this what they call all's well that ends well—not so?"

Body of Man Drowned in Meramec Recovered

Michael Rend Jr., Lost Life Sunday When Swimming Near Jeddah, Mo.

The body of Michael Rend Jr., 23 years old, of 2650 Nebraska avenue, who drowned in the Meramec River near the Silverado Club at Jeddah, St. Louis County, Sunday afternoon, was found today. The body apparently had become wedged between rocks in a deep portion of the river near the drowning scene. Divers searched the river all yesterday without success. Rend's father and younger brother, Emil, aided in the search. Rend was on an outing with a party of friends. A poor swimmer, he got into difficulty when he ventured into deep water. He was a truck driver for a furniture company.

A Coroner's verdict of accidental death was returned following an inquest held soon after finding of the body.

RALPH STANLEY, HIT BY GOLF BALL, REPORTED IMPROVING

Head of Cigar Company Suffered Fractured Skull While Playing on Normandy Links.

The condition of Ralph Stanley, president of the Charles P. Stanley Cigar Co., who suffered a fractured skull when struck by a sliced golf ball on the Normandy Golf Club course Sunday afternoon, was reported improved at St. John's Hospital today.

He was knocked unconscious by the blow and was in a semi-conscious condition yesterday. The accident occurred while Stanley and a party of friends were walking on the fairway of the thirteenth hole. A player on the sixth tee, the fairway of which lies along the thirteenth fairway, sliced a high drive. The ball struck Stanley, who was walking in the same direction as the drive and did not hear the shout of "Fore."

Stanley's friends at the time reported the accident at the caddy house but it was not believed then that he would require hospital attention.

Miner Killed by Explosion.

CALUMET, Mich., Aug. 9.—One man was killed, another is in a serious condition, and three others suffered less severe injuries in an explosion at the Crocker exploration shaft of the Calumet and Hecla Mining Co. at Phoenix near here last night. The cause of the blast is unknown.

The disease was contracted, he said, while playing barefoot as a boy. City Hospital physicians said this was possible.

TRIES TO END LIFE WHEN HIS DAUGHTER ELOPES

Policeman Stops Father and Reconciles Him and Wife to Girl's Marriage.

A tearful pair, living in the foreign settlement surrounding Carr street police station, went to the station yesterday afternoon anxiously inquiring for Capt. Nally.

"What's wrong?" asked Nally, of the sobbing wife and husband.

"Our little girl, Mr. Captain—our little daughter—she is married," the mother, Mrs. John Marvagno of 1417 Biddle street, responded, brokenly.

"Well, that's nothing to cry about. You ought to be happy."

"Yes, but our little daughter, she is not happy," the father exclaimed. "I must kill myself."

He drew a revolver and raised it to his head but Nally wrested the weapon from him. He then instructed policemen to take the pair to City Hospital and have them quieted, while he went to see the daughter. He found the 15-year-old daughter, with her husband, Joseph Silerna, 35, in their home at 4915 Shaw avenue. The bride excitedly told the captain that she loved her husband and was happy with him—please not to take him away. The husband just as anxiously told of his love for his bride.

Nally invited them to accompany him to the station, then sent for the parents. He hid the bride and bridegroom behind the door of his office. The parents returned from the hospital, still in tears.

"Suppose your daughter were happy—that she really married for love—would her marriage please you then?" Nally asked the parents.

"Ah, yes," the mother agreed. "We married for love, so why should they not marry if they really love?"

The bride and her husband stepped from behind the door, their faces radiant. The mother and daughter embraced and the father shook hands with his new son-in-law.

That growing boy of yours

Will he become a healthy, vigorous man? His first ten years will largely determine. And you, his mother, have control of those ten years

Every mother knows the importance of food to boys and girls. She knows that well-chosen foods mean health and strength—a strong, vigorous body; and that the absence of certain foods is fraught with positive danger to a child.

Nor do mothers have to be told that of all foods known to man, none is more important, more necessary to the child's growth, than butter—good butter, pure butter—butter with none of the "growing" qualities lacking.

Authorities agree

Physicians, chemists and other scientists have long been curious to learn what it is in good, pure butter that makes children grow and thrive. They know—all of them—that good, pure butter does these things.

For example, McCollum and Simmons in their authoritative textbook, "Food, Nutrition and Health," state:

"The most palatable of all fats is butter when made under satisfactory conditions and with good technic. Among all the fats which are acceptable to the appetite none is so rich in the vitamin A as butter fat."

In a recent investigation, many able physicians were interviewed—and all unqualifiedly recommended good, pure butter for growing children.

What science discovered

Scientific men have added these facts to our inherited knowledge of good, pure butter:

FIRST—All children need a large percentage of fats. Butter not only provides these fats, but in the most digestible form.

SECOND—Good butter contains vitamin A, essential to people of all ages, but especially required by children. No child can develop normally without vitamin A.

THIRD—Another highly important element present in good, pure butter is vitamin D, which authorities say is our greatest bone builder.

This butter is made for growing children

Mothers should know that there is a great difference in butter. They owe it to their children to know something about the butter they serve three or more times a day, year after year.

Blue Valley Butter, because of costly scientific methods and because of care used in selection of cream, possesses all the health-giving properties that Nature placed in the cream.

Blue Valley purity and flavor are first guaranteed by the Blue Valley method of selecting and controlling the cream right from its source. Only finest and purest cream goes into Blue Valley. The Cream comes direct from dairy farms in individual, sterilized containers, and then is carefully tested and thoroughly pasteurized.

To further guarantee Blue Valley goodness—to make certain that each pound contains the essentials so vital to the growth and health of children, Blue Valley secured the services of Professor Otto F. Hunziker, the most eminent scientist in this field. Every pound of Blue Valley Butter is made under his supervision.

How children love Blue Valley!

There are many healthful foods that don't "taste good." But that isn't true of good, pure Blue Valley Butter.

Boys, girls, mothers, fathers—all love Blue Valley Butter; on bread, toast and pancakes—as a sauce on vegetables—as a shortening in cakes, pies and other pastries. No trouble getting children to eat Blue Valley. They want it!

The money spent for one pound of Blue Valley Butter will not buy in any other food an equal amount of wholesome, body-building, health-giving properties.

It is a concentrated food—small in bulk, but mighty in what it supplies to growing young bodies.

By reason of its wholesomeness, purity, flavor and superior keeping qualities, Blue Valley Butter outsells all other brands on the market.

For your final protection, Blue Valley is never sold in bulk but only in triple-sealed packages—one pound or one-half pound. Also in quarter-pound "sticks" for cutting patties.

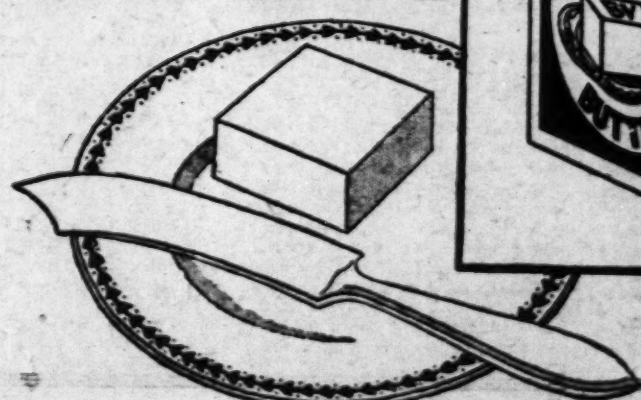

Despite the extreme care and extra precautions employed in handling Blue Valley its added cost is but a trifle. If not at your dealer's, telephone us. We will gladly arrange to supply you. Blue Valley Creamery Co., 2722-24 Pine St., St. Louis. Telephone JEFFerson 2945.

Women's organizations, as well as individuals, are always welcome at the sun-lit, snow-white Blue Valley Creameries. You are cordially invited to come any time.

THAYER'S TEST "IMPROPRIETY"

York World Asserts He Should Not Have Heard Motion for New Trial.

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—The following editorial, headed "Is This Due Process of Law?" published today by the New York World:

Yesterday in the Superior Court at Boston, Mass., Judge Webster heard a motion by counsel for Thayer and Vanzetti asking for a new trial on the ground that the original trial Judge was prejudiced against the accused men. Judge Thayer denied the motion. He held that under the law as he understood it he does not have the right to grant a new trial, even if he believed the men were entitled to one. The effect of this interpretation of the law by Judge Thayer is to leave the question of the Thayer's prejudice untested by a court of law.

Explaining the designation of Judge Thayer to hear this motion, the World editorially says: "It surely seems an extraordinary procedure, Chief Justice Hall, in accordance with precedent, to appoint a judge to hear a case of contempt by personal attack upon him may, without shirking from his duty, properly refuse to do so." The Chief Justice was speaking of actions in which there was an attempt of the judge. He is clearly of the opinion that where it is impracticable to do so, the judge whose conduct is involved should not sit as judge in his own case. The position of Judge Thayer yesterday in the Dedham court is clearly analogous. No reason has been alleged, nor, we believe, can any be alleged, why the Chief Justice of Massachusetts would not have acted in the spirit of the rule laid down by the Chief Justice of the United States and assigned some other judge to hear this motion, nor why Judge Thayer, even after the assignment, would not have made the request of some one, not himself, should be upon this matter.

The propriety of Judge Thayer's sitting on this motion is emphasized by the fact that the result of the Lowell Committee, which upheld the verdict and exonerated him of prejudice, nevertheless expressly charged him with a grave breach of official decorum. Surely it is carrying process and precedent to their logical extreme to allow Judge Thayer to decide this grave question all by himself. We believe that a wise and sober administration of justice would have called for a hearing before a judge whose personal reputation was not at stake.

Nothing in the whole procedure of this case is as directly open to criticism as this action by the Massachusetts courts at the eleventh hour. It is this indeed that due process of law which the Constitution of the United States guarantees to every person.

THAYER'S TEST "IMPROPRIETY"

York World Asserts He Should Not Have Heard
Motion for New Trial.

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—The following editorial, headed "Is This Due Process of Law?" published today by the New York

World in the Superior Court of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, Judge Webster heard a motion by counsel for the defense, asking for a new trial on the ground that the original trial Judge was prejudiced against the defendant, Judge Thayer, because that under the law as he interpreted it he does not have to grant a new trial, even if the men were entitled to it. The effect of this interpretation of the law by Judge Thayer is to leave the question of the Thayer's prejudice untested by any court of law.

In explaining the designation of Thayer to hear this motion, Judge Thayer seems an extraordinary procedure, Chief Justice Hall of Massachusetts held that this was in accordance with precedent, and sound reason. On the question one may properly question the opinion of the Chief Justice of the United States, Mr. Taft, in the case of the United States, 267 U. S. 1 at 53990.

Calling in Another Judge. The power of contempt which Judge Thayer must have and exercise in conducting the due and orderly administration of justice and in maintaining the authority and dignity of the court is most important and responsible. But its exercise is delicate one and care is needed to avoid arbitrary or oppressive judgments. All we can say is that the whole matter is that the conditions do not make it desirable, or where the delay is not injure public or private, a judge called upon to act in a case of contempt by personal attack upon him, may, without shirking from his duty, properly refuse to act in the case of one of his fellow judges in his place.

The Chief Justice was speaking of actions in which there was no contempt of the judge. He is clearly of the opinion that where it is impracticable to do so the judge whose conduct is involved should not sit as judge in his own case. The position of Judge Thayer yesterday in the Dedham court was clearly analogous. No reason has been alleged, nor, we believe, can any be alleged, why the Chief Justice of Massachusetts should not have acted in the spirit of the rule laid down by the Chief Justice of the United States and have assigned some other judge to hear this motion, nor why Judge Thayer, even after the assignment, should not have made the request of some one, not himself, should be upon this matter.

The propriety of Judge Thayer sitting on this motion is emphasized by the fact that the report of the Lowell Committee, which upheld the verdict and exonerated him of prejudice, never expressly charged him with grave breach of official decorum. Surely it is carrying precedent and precedent, if they exist, far to allow Judge Thayer to sit on this grave question all by himself. We believe that a wise and sober administration of justice would have called for a hearing before a judge whose personal reputation was not at stake.

Being in the whole procedure this case is as directly open to question as this action by the Massachusetts courts at the eleventh hour.

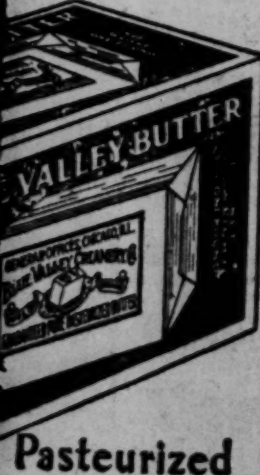

It is indeed that due process of law which the Constitution of the United States guarantees to every person.

THREE KILLED WHEN WATER TANK FALLS

Three Others Hurt in Accident at Railroad Tracks Near Waterloo, Ill.

Three workmen were killed and three injured yesterday noon when a water tank beside the tracks of the Mobile & Ohio Railroad, five miles north of Waterloo, Ill., toppled over on them.

The dead are: Albert Crook, 40 years old; Frank Schlemmer, 60, and Hubert Thelen, 55.

All were laborers and lived at Waterloo.

The men were employees of a Chicago construction firm which is lowering a grade and taking out curves of the railroad's right-of-way at New Hanover Hill. The tank had been placed temporarily beside the tracks for use of the construction company. It is believed the foundation of the tank, which had a capacity of 15,000 gallons and was almost full at the time of the accident, was caused to sink by heavy rains which fell during the morning.

As a gasoline truck running on the tracks and pulling several small cars passed the tank it toppled and fell upon the workmen, burying the workmen riding on the cars. Fellow workmen dug out the bodies. Automobiles brought nurses and doctors from Waterloo. None of the injured men were seriously hurt. They were taken to their homes.

A Coroner's verdict of accident was returned in the death of the three men.

THREE CHINESE SLAIN IN VANCOUVER POLITICAL FEUD

By the Associated Press.
VANCOUVER, B. C., Aug. 9.—Three Chinese, two of them prominent in Vancouver's Chinatown, were killed in a fight resulting from a political feud last night. The dead are: Louie Man Ha, president and editor of the Canadian Morning News, and special commissioner of the Vancouver branch of the Chinese Nationalist League; Wong Park, typesetter and writer for the News, and a Chinese believed to be Wong Suey Sang of Kamloops, B. C.

Police stated the affair was a result of a recent split in the Chinese Nationalist party followers here. Eye witnesses said Wong Park was slain by Wong Suey Sang, the visitor from Kamloops. The deaths of Wong Suey Sang and Louie Man

Ha were probably the result of a fight between the two.

ELECTRICAL DEALERS TO VISIT

ST. LOUIS ESTABLISHMENTS

Convention to Open Tomorrow at Hotel Chase With Discussion of Problems.

Discussion of distribution and installation of electrical wiring and appliances will start tomorrow at 10 a. m. in general convention sessions of the Association of Electrical Engineers, International, an organization of contract-dealers in the electrical industry, at Hotel Chase. Several hundred members of the association gathered here in advance of the opening of the convention sessions planned to go on an inspection tour of electrical establishments in the St. Louis industrial district today.

Organization executives of three electrical industry groups will present plans for better service in the first session tomorrow. They are H. F. Sands, president of the National Electric Light Association; B. Hayes Murphy, vice president of the National Electrical Manufacturers' Association, and C. F. Cullinan, chairman of the Electrical Supply Jobbers' Association. The convention has been dedicated to "a united industry for public service." Clyde L. Chamblin of San Francisco, head of the association, announced.

A display of electric ventilators, lights, percolators and other electrical appliances has been installed at Hotel Chase.

MAN STABBED WHEN AIDING

VICTIM OF ATTACK, DIES

Ernest Guidici, 57, Went From His Home Sunday Night to Assist Neighbor.

Ernest Guidici, a salesman, of 5014 Patterson avenue, died at City Hospital last night of a stab wound in the abdomen suffered Sunday night when he left his home to go to the assistance of a neighbor who was being attacked by three men. He was 57 years old.

Tony Cantoni, 31, of 5028 Patterson avenue was accosted by the three men while walking near his home. He ran but they overtook him, and, drawing knives, wounded him and Guidici. Cantoni is at City Hospital suffering from a stab wound in the left chest. He told police he knew no motive for the attack.

NOTED LONDON LAWYER KILLED

Sir George Lewis Struck by Train in Alps.

LONDON, Aug. 9.—Sir George Lewis, London attorney, was killed by a train at Territet, Switzerland, it is announced in a dispatch received here.

Sir George, the son of a famous attorney, was associated with many notable cases. One of the more recent of these was the suit brought in 1925 by Mrs. Dorothy Muriel Dennistoun, a society woman, against her divorced husband, Lieut. Col. Ian Onslow Dennistoun, to recover money she said she had loaned him. Sir George appeared for Mrs. Dennistoun and won the case.

"King" Ben Purnell Seriously Ill.

By the Associated Press.

ST. JOSEPH, Mich., Aug. 9.—Benjamin Purnell, head of the House of David organization, is seriously ill, and under the constant care of a physician, Miss Florence McCavon, a nurse, testified at the dissolution proceedings here yesterday. The leader is suffering from diabetes and tuberculosis, and has been confined to his bed nearly three years, the nurse testified.

Kills Woman, and Shoots Self. OMAHA, Neb., Aug. 9.—Mrs. Elizabeth Wright, 33 years old, was shot to death early today and Edward Philbrick, 38, fired a bullet into his own head when police went to his room to question him. He may not live.

3 HELD FOR BOMB EXPLOSIONS

By the Associated Press.

UTICA, N. Y., Aug. 9. — Three persons were arrested last night in connection with two bomb explosions which wrecked half a dozen buildings in East Utica and smashed plate glass windows in about 100 other structures, causing damage of $150,000.

Those arrested are: Anthony Guma, barber and owner of a building near the Utica jail, where the second worst explosion occurred; Luca Azarito, laborer, owner of a dwelling five blocks away from the second explosion, and his son, Anthony, 16 years old. The latter two are held on charges of arson.

KELLOGG BLOCKS GOOD WILL FLIGHT TO MEXICO CITY

Refuses Permission to Houston Chamber of Commerce on Basis of 'Larger Interests of Government.'

By the Associated Press.
HOUSTON, Tex., Aug. 9. — Informed by Secretary of State Kellogg that a proposed good will flight from here to Mexico City could not be held because of arms embargo regulations, the Houston Chamber of Commerce today planned to send representatives only as far as the border city of Brownsville.

The four delegates named will confer with Mexican officials at Brownsville on proposed international air routes, particularly with a view of establishing aerial mail service. They expect to take off today in the plane "Pride of San Diego," sister ship of Col. Lindbergh's "Spirit of St. Louis." Frank Hawks of Houston will pilot the ship.

T. L. Evans, manager of the foreign trade department of the Chamber of Commerce, who telegraphed postponement of the flight to Mexico City on receipt of a telegram from Secretary Kellogg, said he would renew negotiations with the State Department in the hope of obtaining permission to complete the tour to the Mexican Capitol at a later date.

"Having in mind the larger interests of the Government, it is not possible to grant your request," said the message from Kellogg.

He explained that the request was examined with every disposition to grant it, "as there is no desire to curtail the legitimate wishes of American citizens or to hamper friendly contact between the peoples of this country and Mexico."

The only explanation forthcoming from the State Department of Kellogg's message was that the embargo prohibits the shipment of military weapons into Mexico.

A Working Wife Who Helps Her Husband Run a Garage

Mrs. Adele Gelsler, in coveralls, plies a potent wrench, tearing down motors and building them up again.

By THOMAS DAWSON.

OUT in a busy garage at 615 Spring avenue is a marital situation unique in the city. It harks back, in one sense, to the pioneer days when the woman could and did swing a pitchfork, milk the cow, performed many of the tasks that her husky husband did on the farm, but in another sense, it is up-to-the-minute modern.

It is the case of the woman with the spirit of the pioneer wife of other days—finding herself with a garage owner and mechanic for husband. In the sense only that the background of this marriage is a twentieth century garage, rich in oil and grease, is the relationship modern.

Mrs. Adele Gelsler, 20 years old, finding a stay-at-home life unthinkable, at first visited her husband's garage, watching him at work; then she kept his books for him; then she began to tinker with missing spark plugs; and now she tears down motors.

Mrs. Gelsler is small, has dark eyes and dark hair (not bobbed), and she is comely. When she was interviewed this working wife crawled from under an automobile, a pair of pliers in one hand and a wrench in the other, and momentarily frowned at the interruption to her work.

Because She Likes It.

She was clad in a pair of khaki coveralls, like her husband's but a bit smaller; a cap was pulled over her piled black hair; she wore an old pair of slippers without stockings, and her hands, her face, her ankles even, were smudged with grease and grime.

She smiled after a moment or so. "But do you think I would get all dirty like this," she asked. "If I didn't like it?"

Mrs. Gelsler was born in France, and there lingers in her speech a trace of the foreign accent.

"Of course I like it," she said. "and I found it just what anyone else would find it—a simple affair, once you get started at it. I don't see why any woman shouldn't be a mechanic if they want to be. Just the same as men. It is a job that is dirty sometimes, but the grease can be washed off. After I get home at night, my hands are again milk-white. Just as white as they ever were."

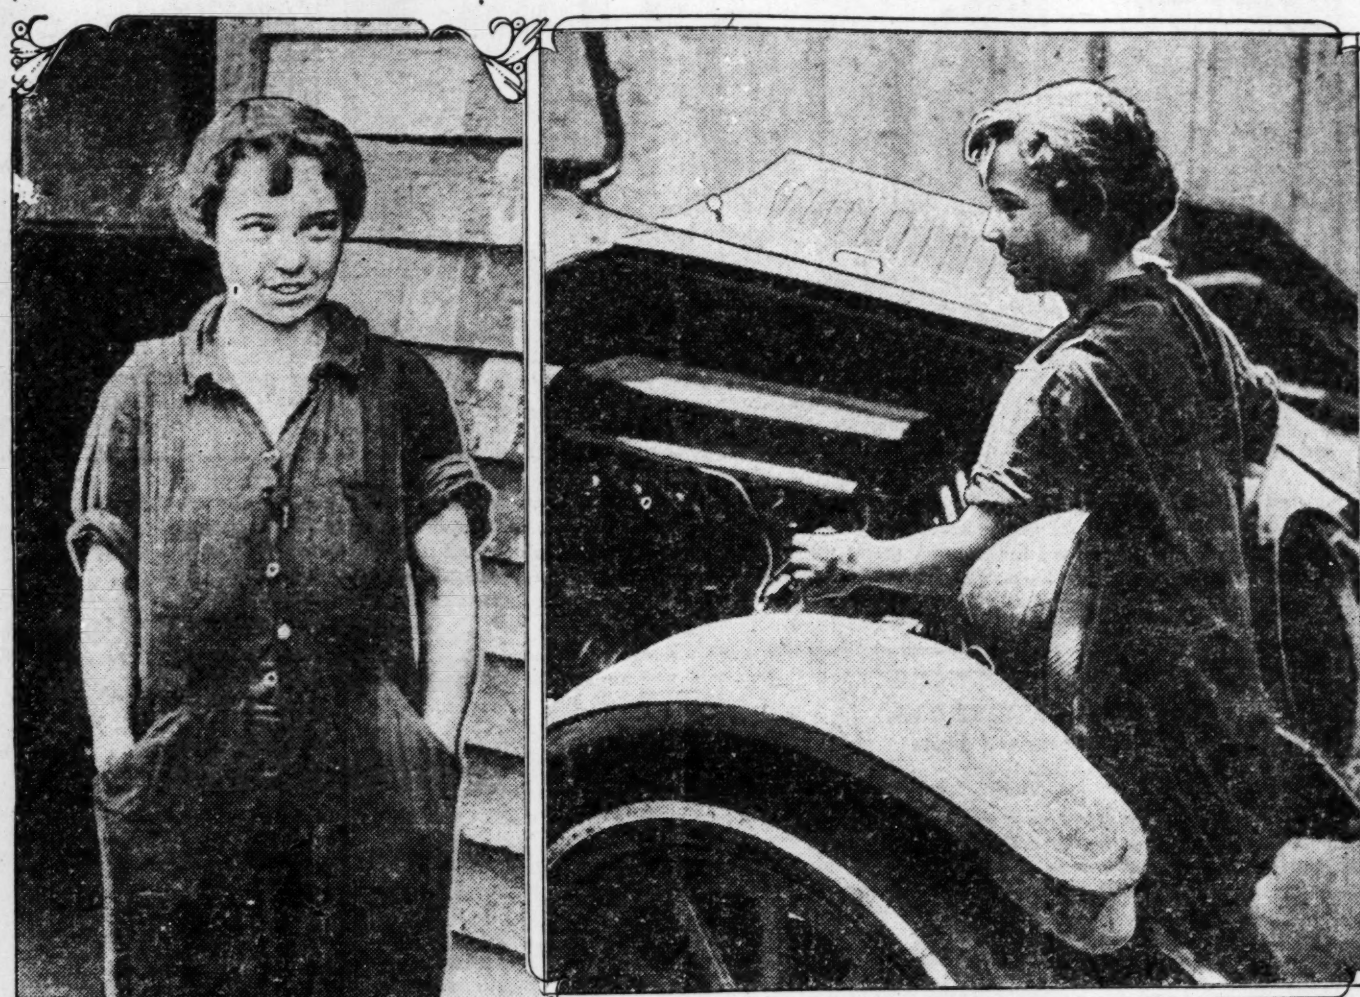

Mrs. Gelsler is the former Adele Ametoy, daughter of a French peasant family in the south of France. Her people for centuries have lived just this side of the Pyrenees, near the Basque country, but not of it, and the women in the French country districts, too, know the technique required in handling the shovel, the pick, the hoe, the rake.

Stranded, Then Romance.

Mrs. Gelsler—Adele Ametoy she was then—was brought to this country when she was but twelve. She lived with an aunt and went to school, later going on the stage. When she was but 17, a show she was traveling with as a singer and dancer went to the wall here in St. Louis and she was stranded. She met Gelsler, a mechanic who owned a repair shop, and romance developed.

"When I first came to St. Louis," Mrs. Gelsler confided, "with much amusement at her then naivete, 'I actually didn't know the difference between a Chevrolet and a Ford.'"

Following their marriage, Mrs. Gelsler merely kept the rooms in order, did the ordinary wifely things. But the blood of Southern France came to the fore and she strove to help her husband at his work. She began visiting the shop, and bit by bit, picking up the putting of them together better than any work she had ever done, and she hesitated before she replied. It isn't the garage work in itself, she said in reply, it is the fact that it happens to be the particular work of one Gelsler—the husband.

If Gelsler were a butcher, a baker, a tailor, a plumber, she implied, instead of a mechanic, it would be the same—the work would interest in his work and seek a means to actually assist him at it.

"We have to have that car pretty soon," Gelsler, commander of the garage, observed from the bench where he was whetting at blackened spark plugs.

"Oh I forgot," Mrs. Gelsler said, and she immediately set about unjacking a car that had a hind wheel in the air. There was also something to be done to the gears, and with a huge jointed wrench she did the thing required, climbing completely out of sight in the fore compartment of a large car. She explained, on her return, that Gelsler "bossed" the shop but that she "bossed" the home.

Life Is Not All Toil.

And Mrs. Gelsler made it plain that her life was not all toil that her portion was not at all dreary. They go out occasionally for dinners, they go to the theater together. The life of blackened sparkplugs, cup-grease, monkey wrenches, then drops away. Her hands have become again "milk-white" through scrubbing and the application of lotions, her coveralls are replaced by a cool, modish

Because It's Husband's Work.

Mrs. Gelsler, before she went on the stage, had been employed in New York. She has sewn at shirts and inspected them, and held out her similar jobs. She was asked if she liked the garage work—the tearing down of motor cars and the less they go driving together, she calls it a day.

Mrs. Gelsler is not paid a salary. Neither, in fact, does Gelsler get a salary. Mrs. Gelsler adds to her other tasks that of keeping the family ledger, writing the monthly checks, doing the banking. This also, perhaps, is the French blood.

"But I do not get a salary," she said. "It is altogether for us both."

This amazing marriage, in which husband and wife are together at home and at work, to their mutual satisfaction, is not built on the five-day week. It adapts itself, indeed, to the exigencies of the business, and if the repair shop demands a 7-day week, the 7-day week obtains.

Summer Drinks That Delight

By JEANNETTE YOUNG NORTON

SUMMER drinks are always in demand and are often served in place of hot ones at tea time. The hostess who serves the drinks daily keeps the fruit juice and a light syrup on hand for their mixing in her refrigerator. All materials should be chilled before mixing and if ice is used in them it must be shaved fine. Tall glasses are best for the fruit drinks.

Southern Orange Grant.—Peel six oranges and remove all the white skin, slice thinly and remove the seeds. Squeeze the juice from one dozen more oranges and strain into a quart of clear water. Sprinkle a pound of sugar over the cut fruit and let it stand several hours to make a syrup, stirring it carefully every once in a while. Add a cupful of the liquid to the syrup and drain all together, crushing the fruit to get all of the syrup. Turn into a jar or small covered mold and pack for a little while in cracked ice and a little salt to freeze like a soft mush. Serve as soon as ready.

Current Cup.—Take four pounds of ripe currants and after washing and stemming, put in a saucepan with a cupful of water, bring slowly to boiling point, then simmer until the fruit is soft. Strain carefully. Then to each pint of juice add a half pint of sugar. Put on to heat and boil up gently, let cook for ten minutes, skim, then set aside to cool. This will keep for several days in a jar in the ice box. In making the cup, use a half glass of the syrup to three-quarters of a glass of water and shaved ice.

Cherry Fruit Snow.—Wash, stem and stone a pound of large ripe cherries. Put the fruit into a saucepan with a pound and a half of sugar. Melt together, then cook gently until the fruit is cooked. Hit the fruit with a skimmer and set aside. Boil down the syrup until rich and reduced, then add the fruit, boil up once, then set aside to cool and chill. When ready to serve, fill tall glasses with shaved ice, and add a ladleful of the fruit and juice to each glass. Serve at once.

Raspberry Shrub.—Pick over and wash four quarts of ripe raspberries and cover them with elder vinegar. Let stand overnight. In the morning, strain, crushing the fruit. To each pint of juice add a pint of sugar, melt together and boil gently for ten minutes, skimming carefully, bottle and seal hot. When ready to use, fill glasses with shaved ice, add a half glassful of the shrub to each, filling the glasses with still or charged water.

Abie's Irish Rose

AS THE STORY GOES.

Rose-Mary Murphy and Abraham Levy, who met and fell in love in France during the war, succeeded so well in their plan to win the affection of Abie's father, Solomon, to the college in order to obtain his forgiveness and approval of their marriage by a Methodist minister, that Solomon himself practically forces them into a marriage with Rabbi Samuels officiating. He thinks Rose-Mary is Rosie, daughter of Solomon Murphes of a fine old Jewish family, while in the meantime, Patrick Murphy, California contractor, speeds to the wedding, bringing a surprise for Rose-Mary and delighted to think she is to marry an Irish lad Michael Magee, whom she had met in France during the war. The young people decide to go through with the ceremony, letting the battle between the older people take care of itself.

CHAPTER XLV.

THE moment Rose-Mary was in her wedding gown, the next afternoon, she hurried downstairs to the telephone. Already the guests were beginning to gather in the conservatory; she could hear them talking and her fingers trembled with excitement as, very cautiously she lifted her receiver.

It was as she had hoped. She regained faith in the efficacy of prayer. Her father's train was one hour late! The ceremony was set for half-past six and it was six o'clock now. There was little chance of his arriving before the wedding.

Nervously she hung up the receiver. As she did so a voice behind her said: "Rose-Mary!"

She uttered a little shriek of fright.

"Why, what's the matter, dearest?"

It was Abie, attired in full dress, a gardenia in his button-hole.

"Oh, darling! You gave me such a start!" she stammered. But she added quickly, "You shouldn't see me in my wedding dress before we're married—it's bad luck!"

"Oh, paw!" laughed Abie, gathering her in his arms. Do you forget that I am seeing you after we're married a week?"

"O course—that's so!" She laughed with him, but her voice was still tremulous as she went on: "I'm so afraid that Dad will get here before we're married. If he does, both our fathers will stop the wedding."

"We'll be married in a few minutes now," said Abie, lightly. But almost as he spoke, his father appeared, resplendent in his new dress suit, and his first remark concerned Rose-Mary's father. He wanted to know about "Solomon Murphes!"

She informed him that the train was late, and he proceeded to throw them into consternation by averring that the ceremony could not go on 'til "Solomon Murphes!" arrived. The bride's father must give her away.

Rose-Mary felt as if she were going to faint.

"I will give myself away!" she suggested weakly.

"You vill!" Solomon lifted his hands toward heaven. "Nefer di I hear of such talk!"

"I know how to get around it!" volunteered Abie quickly. We can—"

"Yis—I know," interrupted Solomon, sarcastically. "Ven dere Rabbi asks, 'Who gives away dere bride,' you spiks out of turn and s'ay, 'nobuddy—I took her myself!'"

"Oh, no, no, no!" insisted Abie. "We'll just tell the Rabbi to omit that part of the ceremony."

"Oh!" cried Solomon Levy in a shocked voice. "Leaf out something—when it costs me so much mon-ee for dere decorations?"

Abie and Rose-Mary looked at each other hopelessly.

"Oh, please don't make us wait!" begged Rose-Mary.

"Abie! Abie, she can't wait!" Solomon exclaimed facetiously, nudging his son.

"No, and I'm more impatient that Rosie!" urged Abie emphatically.

Solomon only smiled and gathered both young folks into his arms.

"Roseline—Abie!" he murmured tenderly.

From the front hall the Cohens entered. Mrs. Cohen, who had left Rose-Mary after helping her with the preliminaries of dressing, had gone home to do her own things. She now appeared in all the splendor of an oriental queen—a queen who had been turned loose in a Ninth avenue department store.

She fairly glittered with rhinestones and more valuable gems, while her dress showed every color of the chromatic scale. On her head was an immense tiara, which sparkled brightly in the light. Her beautiful black eyes shone as brightly as her jewelry and her cheeks were rosy with excitement.

In contrast to her confident and regal bearing was the tiny mouse-like figure of her husband, who crept in behind her in evening clothes and high silk hat.

The silk hat gave Isaac no more importance, no more air of dignity, however, than he was usually able to muster. He took one look at Rose-Mary in her pure white dress, and exclaimed:

"Ach—a regular scotskell!"

"Ain't she a bride!" said Solomon enthusiastically.

"My dear, your gown it is beautiful," breathed Mrs. Cohen fervently, examining it critically from head to foot.

"But, Mama, looks what's in dere gown!" cried Isaac.

"Isa-Ach!" admonished Mrs. Cohen. Isaac took a seat at once, placing his hat beneath the chair.

The door bell rang again and Rose-Mary listening, felt her cheeks grow color.

"Rose! Maybe dad's Solomon Murpheski, now? Your papa!" Solomon turned to Abie—told him to go to the door and leave it open.

"Open? Ain't you afraid up here in the Bronx to leaf your door open?" asked Mrs. Cohen, seating herself now, with an air.

"Who—me? Vid a wedding goink on?" responded Solomon.

"Nefer! Always leaf dere door open for weddings and funerals—it's stylish."

Both the Cohens gazed admiringly at her host, while Rose-Mary silently crossed herself.

Abie returned accompanied by Rabbi Samuels.

"Oh! I thought dad was Rosie's papa," said Solomon Levy, disappointedly. "How are you, Dr. Samuels? Well, I guess you are of some importance."

"I'm the one who does it," smiled the Rabbi, nodding at Rose-Mary and the Cohens.

"Well, Dr. Samuels—do it vell!" said Solomon Levy, so all could hear.

"Never fear, my friend, I will!" returned the Rabbi. "Well, how are the Cohens tonight?" And turned to the couple.

"Perfect, thanks. Couldn't be perfecter!" said Isaac, getting up from his chair.

"Spik for yourself!" said Mrs. Cohen. "I haf my own feeling, vod you don't know about."

Abie spoke up at this point, saying briskly:

"Well, everything's ready now. Rosie, where are your bridesmaids? Hadn't we better start?"

"De bridesmaids is upstairs," said Mrs. Cohen.

"But where is your father?" asked the Rabbi.

Solomon complained that Abie and Rose-Mary wanted to proceed with the wedding without him. The Rabbi however, took the position he had. "What's the hurry?"

The Right Way to Pack the Suitcase

When packing a suit case put the heaviest dresses in first and the shoes at each end. Do not forget to stuff the toes of the shoes. Use the stockings for this purpose.

Place the best frocks on top of the heavy dress, then the lingerie and blouses. Pack the accessories in between wherever they can be fitted in as the packing progresses. When the suit case seems filled it will be surprising how many articles can be tucked in along the edges, such as handkerchiefs, brushes, handkerchiefs, course, every available space will be utilized and it is an art woman who can do this. A suit case with perfect packing will be found a great convenience.

Associated Press.
HANGHAI, China, Aug. 9.—Reliable sources indicate that Gen. Chiang Kai-shek, leader of the Nationalists, has suffered a severe check at the hands of the Northern troops in the neighborhood of Pengpu, Anhui Province.
Seven thousand casualties were reported among his troops, the reports say, and 1,000 wounded have been taken to Pukow, across the Yangtze River from Nanking.
These officials seize shipment of dynamite on Yangtze River.
Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and
the Chicago Daily News, Copyright, 1937.
HANGHAI, Aug. 9.—Thirty-two dead cases of dynamite were reported by Chinese military officials at Wusong, at the mouth of the Yangtze River, as it was being conveyed toward Shanghai aboard two ships this morning. Officials maintaining reticence regarding the seizure. The explosives are believed, however, to be a part of the large vessel which is known to have brought a large consignment of dynamite and munitions to Hanghai.

EXCAVATIONS IN ATHENS

Princeton Professor and Greek Minister Agree on Exploration of Market Place.
The Associated Press.
ATHENS, Aug. 9.—After protracted negotiations, Prof. Edward Tappan, of Princeton University, states and chairman of the managing committee of the American School of Classical Studies at Athens, signed an agreement with the Greek Minister of Education for American excavations in Greece,
covering a period of five years.
ica to obtain the approval of the American organizations and individuals who are providing the necessary funds for the excavations.
It was announced recently the American School for Classical Studies at Athens planned to excavate the ancient Agora, a market place of Athens. It was stated the work would be under the direction of American scholars.
The sites of many ancient temples
in the market place and are expected to yield a wealth of examples of classic art.

S. TO ATTEND WORLD POSTAL MEETING CALLED BY RUSSIA

Conference to Be Held at The Hague Sept. 1 on International Air Service.
The Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—Although Soviet Russia has never been recognized by the Washington government, it has been successful in having an international conference called to which the United States has named two official representatives. The conference, on international air mail will be conferred at The Hague Sept. 1 by the Universal Postal Union. W. Irving Crover, second assistant Postmaster General and R. Eugene White, superintendent of Foreign Mails,
will attend.
Russia, which has been expanding its air service, petitioned the Universal Postal Union to call a conference on air mail, having found the regulations adopted at the Stockholm convention in 1924 inadequate for its needs. The conference at The Hague will adopt temporary agreements to remain in force until the ninth Universal Postal Congress is held in London in 1939.

Australian Premier Warns Strikers

BRISBANE, Australia, Aug. 9.—
A warning of drastic Federal action against the Queensland sugar
strikers has been issued by Prime Minister Bruce. He asserted continuance of the dispute will result in a general strike, similar to the recent British upheaval. "You must get to stand by the decision
of the Arbitration Court," Bruce said. "Racial factors enter into the dispute, as thousands of Italian men among the strikers. Armed forces watched the crowd as the Premier spoke."

Missouri Premier Warns Strikers

Warns of drastic Federal action against the Queensland sugar
strikers has been issued by Governor Bruce. He asserted that the strikers' action would result in a general strike, similar to the recent British strike. "You guys got to stand by the decision
of the Arbitration Court," Bruce
said.Racial Factors Enter into

A. J. Dinse, United States Livestock
Inspector, today announced examination of three of 10 cows subjected to a tuberculosis cure five months ago after they had been condemned, showed the animals were free from any sign of the disease and fit for human consumption. The treatment was evolved by Dr. George Kirkpatrick, Portland veterinarian.Dr. Dinse said the three cows were slaughtered and subjected to a searching examination and that even the glandular structure of one of the animals was found free of tuberculosis. This was said to be most unusual in the case of animals which have reacted to the tu-
berculin tests.EX-QUEEN MARIE RETIRES

BAN, Transylvania, Aug. 9.—
The little mountain town has become the home of two reigning Kings, a reigning Queen, a dowager Queen, a former King, a former Queen, a self-styled Czarina and four royal Princesses.Dowager Queen Marie and ten other royal personages came to her convent-like retreat here Sunday night to seek relief from the grief that had come to them
through the death of King Ferdinand of Rumania. Those with the former Queen were the King and Queen of Jugo-Slavia, little King
Michael of Rumania, Princess
Helen, mother of King Michael;
Princess Hohenlohe of Germany.The peasantry, who never saw a King or Queen before, stood in awe as the black-draped Kings, Queens and Princesses proceeded from the railroad station to the royal castle. The procession resembled a funeral pageant. The royal party will pass the rest of the summer between Ban and Sinaia, another retreat.WASHINGTON DENIES PARLEY

and transportation facilities, at a cost of two billion francs, ($150-000,000) is being considered by the Belgian parliament, it was learned at the Embassy here.The proposal contemplates extension of the railway and waterways systems, development of hydro-electric power, flood control and enlargement of the harbors of Antwerp, Zeebrugge, Ghent, Blankenberg and Neuport. Trebil-cock of the port facilities of Antwerp, already tried in size in the world, is being considered.The cost is to be borne by the Government out of its extraordinary budget. Completion of the projects in 10 years is expected.

The Trial of Sacco and Vanzetti

At the End of Long Fight for Life

BARTOLOMEO VANZETTI.

NICOLA SACCO.

The murderers' car approached fired through the barrel and there are repeated cases of guilt being arrived at in this fashion.Accordingly, the state bore down heavily on this portion of the evidence. Two experts were produced by the state and two by the defense. Later the defense produced a third expert in arguing for a new trial.Experts on both sides fired bullets from the pistol and compared them with the bullet taken from Berardelli's body. One State expert declared as the sum of his investigation that he was "inclined to believe" that the fatal bullet had been fired from the revolver found on Sacco.The second State witness, Capt.
William H. Proctor, declared: "My opinion is that it is consistent with having been fired from that pistol."This testimony was interpreted by the Judge to the jury in his instructions as follows: "It was his (Sacco's) pistol that fired the bullet that caused the death of Berardelli. To this effect the commonwealth introduced the testimony of two witnesses, Messrs.
Proctor and Van Amburgh."But subsequently Capt. Proctor made an affidavit that he did not want his testimony to be so constructed. In fact, he had the opportunity to state that the fatal shot had been fired from Sacco's pistol, but that he felt that it had not been. Furthermore, he declared that the pistol was not unprepared to state that the fatal bullet had been fired from Sacco's pistol. The District Attorney repeatedly had endeavored to commit him to such a statement. Capt.
Proctor declared, so that the form of the question, "consistent with having been fired from Sacco's pistol" was resorted to. Capt. Proctor said that the correct interpretation of his testimony would have been that the fatal bullet was fired from a pistol of the same make and caliber as Sacco's. Beyond that he was not prepared to go. Capt.
Proctor has died since making the affidavit.The two defense experts at the trial testified that, in their judgment, the fatal bullet could not have been fired from Sacco's pistol, and that the pit in the barrel proved to be insufficient to mark bullets fired through it as the fatal bullet was marked. Later a third expert took the same view.The summary of evidence on this important phase of the case is: One expert "inclined to believe" that the bullet was fired from Sacco's pistol, one not prepared to so state,
and three who declared positively that the bullet was not fired from Sacco's pistol.The Governor's special committee points out that the fatal bullet
was of an obsolete type, so obsolete
that one of the defense experts could find none for his tests, and that 20 bullets found upon Sacco
when he was arrested were of the same obsolete type."Consciousness of Guilt."
In denying a motion for a new trial, Judge Thayer commented as follows: "These verdicts did not rest, in my judgment, upon the testimony of the witnesses, for the defendants called more witnesses
than the Commonwealth to testify that neither of the defendants were in the bandit car. The evidence that neither of the defendants was in the bandit car, was evidence that is known in law as 'consciousness of guilt.'"The "consciousness of guilt" was

NAVY'S PLAN FOR BUILDING CRUISERSAfter Conference at Rapid

ON 8 NEW VESSELSConstruction of Huge Authorized Dirigible Held Up
by Contract Terms, Secretary Announces.By the Associated Press.
RAPID CITY, S. D., Aug. 9.—The shipbuilding program developed by the General Board of the Navy Department, which was described today at the summer White House as "moderate," has been approved by President Coolidge after a conference here with Secretary Wilbur.Moreover, as a result of the failure of the Geneva naval conference, full speed ahead has been ordered on the construction of the eight additional cruisers authorized by Congress. It has been decided that these ships should be put on the seas within the three-year period it takes to complete them.While keels for two of the eight cruisers have been laid, only the plans have been developed for the other six. Congress overruled President Coolidge last winter in appropriating fully for three of the vessels on which work had not been commenced and for which the money available for construction would have been passed back into the Treasury last July. Now these three, with the other five will be put into commission as soon as possible.After his conference today, Secretary Wilbur also announced that all plans for construction of the huge lighter-than-air ship authorized by Congress would be held up pending approval by Congress of the proposed contract for this ship,
which would be three times as large as the Los Angeles. Wilbur is refusing to accept a contract on cost plus fixed price basis. The only firm which has submitted an acceptable plan for the gigantic ship is insisting on this contract,
and the Secretary will leave it up to Congress to decide whether such a contract will be accepted.To Go Ahead With Plans.
Wilbur issued the following statement in connection with the Navy's plans: "We expect to go ahead with the building and replacement plan
of shipbuilding for the Navy as authorized by the General Board for our needs. There will be no changes in the plan due to the inability to reach an agreement at Geneva."The exact details to be presented to the next Congress have not yet been determined and will be arrived at in the usual manner."While he would not amplify this statement, it is understood the General Board's plans call for construction of probably twelve 18-000-ton cruisers with 8-inch guns in addition to the eight cruisers of 10,000 tons now under construction.To Confer on Boulder Dam.
Plans for prospective action on the Boulder Canyon dam project in Congress this winter held President Coolidge's attention today with the arrival in the Black Hills of Secretary Work, who has predicted enactment of a Colorado River power measure.Coolidge Opposes New Bureaus.
Opposition to the creation of new Government bureaus or departments was voiced today on behalf of President Coolidge, who has vetoed a proposal of the late Gen.
Leonard Wood for establishment of a department to handle insular affairs.Mr. Coolidge recalls that the new bureaus and commissions make more jobs and after they are created enlarge themselves and members give considerable attention to impressing Congress with importance of the organizations. It was recalled that in several instances
the President has appointed members to these commissions with the understanding that he hoped some day to consolidate or abolish the organization. The prospective appointees have agreed with him. It was said, that the bureaus should be killed, but after they had gone to work Mr. Coolidge found they were usually strong for continuing their jobs.Consolidation Is Favored.
Consolidation rather than expansion of the bureaus is favored by the President, who has mentioned
no particular bureau or agency in this respect. He feels it might be possible to have insular affairs
placed in the Interior Department
rather than under the military branches of the Government, but he realizes that Congress probably is not in the mood for such a change.

THE POST-DISPATCH PLATFORM

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles, that it will always fight for progress or reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and plutocrats, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely partial news; always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

The name and address of the author must accompany every contribution, but on request will not be published. Letters not exceeding 200 words will receive preference.

Would Retain Dignity of the Law.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
YOUR editorial of August 5 on Sacco and Vanzetti was the best article I have read on the question. It tells the whole story of Gov. Fuller's investigation, and thousands will agree with you. It is too bad that Gov. Fuller did not let a little mercy and compassion enter into this decision and, as you stated, he could have commuted these men to life and still would not be injuring the dignity of the law.

J. A. M.

Doubts Not Removed.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
O ALL who imagine justice has been secured for Sacco and Vanzetti, it is well to urge the reading of "The Case of Sacco and Vanzetti" by Felix Frankfurter. They will see that the many doubts have not been removed by Gov. Fuller's statement or by the seal of conviction of his advisory committee. It is strange that only partisans of the present order were selected for places on the committee.

DISMAY.

Favors Commutation of Death Sentences.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
YOU are to be commended for your efforts in behalf of justice for Sacco and Vanzetti. You have stressed the point that there is a reasonable doubt of their guilt; that they have not been given a fair and impartial trial, and deplore "railroading" of men to the gallows. A commutation of the Sacco-Vanzetti sentences would meet the approval of a majority of the civilized peoples of the world and tend to strengthen our faith in what we have been taught is or was the home of liberty and justice. What are the reasons why the President cannot intervene?

A. A. COYLE.

Worse Might Be Better.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
YOUR editorial, "An Appalling Decision," is refreshing. It is too much to even suggest that a poor radical may not in these "advanced and enlightened" times be put to death for his beliefs. George Washington, Thomas Paine and all the men responsible in any way for the Declaration of Independence would have been hanged if they had been caught in time, and it probably would be today. "George, King of Great Britain, France, Ireland and America." If Sacco and Vanzetti are put to death, the thing becomes worse instead of better. But at this time who knows but that worse might yet be better?

"Wholly un-American."

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
YOUR editorial Friday on the Sacco-Vanzetti case was wholly un-American and diabolical in its seeming intent. The sum and substance of your editorial is that Gov. Fuller erred in not extending clemency to the two murderers in Boston, merely through sympathy, regardless of the confirmation of their guilt in his own mind, and thus refused to give way to clamor of the lawless element that has been striving to intimidate from the very start the judges of our country from performing their solemn duty in this matter. The question naturally arises as to what per cent American, if any, you are.

Opposing the Release of Roy Joe Lewis.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
IT HAS come to our attention that Roy Joe Lewis has made application for a pardon and we, the bereaved family of the late Patrolman Dillon, whom Lewis brutally murdered, hope that the pardon will not be granted.
This is not an expression of vindictiveness, although such an attitude might well be entertained when the grief and financial difficulties as a result of our late son and brother's untimely death at the hands of Lewis are considered. However, we feel that ours is the opinion of society as a whole. Lewis was a member of as notorious and desperate a band of criminals as ever preyed upon the people of St. Louis. He was a public menace when at large, and there is little likelihood that, if released, he would be any different.

Lewis has as yet done but a fraction of the penance he owes society for his crimes, let alone sufficient to convince his conscience of the error of his ways. The public knows that few paroled criminals are ever reformed, and we feel that Lewis will be no exception, especially at this early date.

DILLON FAMILY.

On to the Millennium.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
WERE there 10 righteous men in Sodom? Are there 10 single-taxers in St. Louis? Is there one? If so, let's get together and fix this thing. All else avails nothing.

A. E. CARNEY.

STICKS TO ITS GUNS.

The Interstate Commerce Commission, as shown by its valuation decision in the Santa Fe case, is standing by the formula which it laid down in the St. Louis and O'Fallon case. It gives no sign of having been moved by the clamor of those who would value public utility property, for rate-making purposes, at the "cost of reproduction new." The Santa Fe put in a claim for $750,000,000, and the commission, after an extended investigation, cut this amount to $579,057,508.

Thus the commission continues to challenge the "federal rule" of the United States Supreme Court—the rule of which the chief exponents are Justice McReynolds and Justice Butler, the latter a one-time attorney for the railroads in valuation cases—and continues to give effect to its own conviction that the value of property on which utilities are entitled to earn a fair return "approaches more nearly the reasonable and necessary investment in the property than the cost of reproducing it at a particular time."

The commission in the Santa Fe case took as its guide the price levels of 1914. This was the method consistently used in the O'Fallon case and in more than 400 other reports relating to the value of railroad properties. It was adopted because of the difficulty, if not the impossibility, of arriving at the exact investment in railroad structures built before 1914—some of them many years before. The 1914 level of prices, it was believed, would give a result near enough to the actual costs for all practical purposes, and one that could do the railroads no injustice.

The essential point is that the commission in the Santa Fe case, as in similar proceedings, disallowed the petition of the railroad for a higher value based on the great rise in construction prices brought about by the war. The commission held, in effect, that railroad investors are entitled to a fair return on the dollars invested in the physical property of the roads, but not to a return on the cost of a mythical reconstruction. It refused to set up a favored class of investors, as opposed to those—the great majority—who must take the normal risks attendant upon changes in the purchasing power of the dollar. It struck another blow at a theory of valuation which, if carried to its logical conclusion by readjustment of the rate base to meet every change in the level of general prices, would result, as the commission has said, in "a feast superior to anything which the bulls and bears have enjoyed since the creation of stock exchanges."

The commission deserves the thanks of the public—and particularly, at the present moment, the thanks of the people of St. Louis.

DAWES SAYS IT.

The taxpayers both of this country and of Great Britain, we believe, will applaud the remarks of Vice President Dawes at the dedication of the new bridge between the United States and Canada. Departing from the trite generalities to which most speakers confine themselves on occasions of this kind, the Vice President talked plainly about the collapse of the recent Geneva disarmament conference. He suggested, as the Post-Dispatch has done editorially, that one large reason for the failure might be found in the lack of such preliminary spadework as marked the successful Washington conference. He declared it "unthinkable" that Great Britain and the United States should indulge in a new orgy of competitive spending for battleships merely because their experts, for the moment, had failed to get together. And then he put the whole case in a sentence refreshingly free from the technical jargon of the "experts." If, he said, Great Britain requires light cruisers which the United States does not need, and the United States requires heavy cruisers which Great Britain does not need, "there is no excuse for inaugurating a competition under which ships will be built which neither of them needs." That, as it seems to us, leaves little more to be said.

AN HONEST NEWSPAPER.

Joseph Pulitzer, who liked a newspaper with courage to fight for what it believes to be true and despised one that will surrender its convictions upon any score, once said:

I think it would be refreshing to see at least one newspaper not rushing with the crowd, but standing by whatever it believes to be true.

There is such a newspaper in Massachusetts. It takes courage in that State to stand by a conviction that entire justice has not been done in the Sacco-Vanzetti case, but there is where the Springfield Republican stands. If we have ourselves suffered some assaults from readers because we, too, have wanted to be sure that these men are not being put to death for their political opinions, how much more moral strength the Republican must have required to maintain its independence in Massachusetts!

The Post-Dispatch salutes the Republican. It is an honor to a profession which very much needs to be rebuked by its courageous example. It has apparently lost its fight—but it has won the ungrudging admiration of all those who love intellectual honesty, and it has saved its own self respect.

COOLIDGE AND PUBLIC CONFIDENCE.

According to Theodore H. Price, editor of the New York Commerce and Finance, the President's renunciation of the throne has undermined public confidence in the future economic wellbeing of the nation, and has made the public fearful that the politico-economic policy of the nation may be so altered after March 4, 1929, that the present era of prosperity will be definitely over.

What grounds Mr. Price may have for these assumptions he does not tell us, and, indeed, it is doubtful if he could do so if he tried. Surely he is putting a low estimate upon the public mind when he assumes that it cannot overcome the superstition that Coolidge is to be credited with bringing about the present prosperity. Because the public, with its usual thoughtlessness, has believed this in the past is surely no proof that it will keep on in error. The fact that the stock market recovered so quickly from the Coolidge announcement indicates, in fact, that the public is not quite so hopelessly wedded to the superstition as was thought. Even the unthinking are gradually coming to the realization that our prosperity may rightly be credited not to political forces at all, but to economic ones.

Nor is there any reason to agree with Mr. Price that the American people are fearful of the next administration being of such a nature as to endanger the economic welfare of the country. Certainly none of those who have been suggested as a possible successor to Coolidge is of a sort to inspire fear in the heart of a public which seems desirous of prosperity first of all. It is Hoover, Lowden, Dawes, Hughes, or, to mention the three chief Democratic contenders, Reed, Ritchie or Smith, likely to inspire less confidence in the public than does Coolidge? We do not believe that Mr. Price or any other competent observer, after a little thought, would answer in the affirmative.

THE SHADOW OF DOUBT.

It is a tremendous tragedy that the greatest criminal case the world has known since the Dreyfus case should be involved in irreparable doubt.

The London News wonders that the American Government does not do something to correct the universal impression that Sacco and Vanzetti are to be put to death for their political opinions, but the obduracy of justice in Massachusetts is such that nothing can be done about it. Only Gov. Fuller can keep these two men from going to the electric chair tomorrow night, and there is no intimation that he will do so. Upon the contrary, he, with his advisory committee, and every important newspaper in the State save one, is caught fast in the local psychosis that it is Massachusetts, rather than Sacco and Vanzetti, that is being judged.

No greater misfortune than this could befall justice in any community. The Rocky Mountain News thinks that if Massachusetts, with her inflexible criminal code, has not been able to execute these men in six years their guilt must be in doubt. Bernard Shaw said that if England could not execute a murderer in six years it would apologize and retire from the effort. The New York Evening World says the doubts persist despite every investigation. This is our own conviction. We have never assumed to know whether or not the men are guilty. We have only wanted to be convinced, and we have not been convinced. Nor has the Springfield Republican, published on the scene, been convinced. It is unconvinced and protests. It dissociates itself "from all moral responsibility for the executions."

We have only to recall the World War and the effect it had upon most of us to understand how Gov. Fuller and his advisers could honestly resolve every doubt in the Sacco-Vanzetti case against them. We were quite sincere in what we believed. It was only after the war that we discovered how easily we were taken in tow by the war psychosis and led about in belief of one absurdity after another. It is so in Massachusetts. Imagine, for instance, what happened with respect to Sacco and Vanzetti being radicals. The Governor's advisers even cast serious doubt upon the genuineness of their radicalism, though Sacco and Vanzetti made this the sole explanation of that consciousness of guilt which Judge Thayer has said convicted them. Can there really be any doubt that they were radicals? Is it thinkable that this fact was without influence upon the trial? Judge Thayer himself warned the defendants of the danger of prejudicing the jury against them if an attempt were made to prove their radicalism. Yet the defense went ahead, and both men freely admitted upon the witness stand that they are anarchists.

Judge Thayer believed they were convicted by this consciousness of guilt; the advisory body thinks they were convicted by the evidence. It denies that because of their radicalism the cards, so to speak, were stacked against them. It would have more easily dissipated the widespread doubt that Massachusetts gave them a fair trial for their lives had all their judges agreed upon what it was that convicted them. That doubt will persist, and Massachusetts will dwell in its shadow.

A ST. LOUIS INNOVATION.

A St. Louis policeman trapped a woman storekeeper by getting a Boy Scout to buy a loaf of bread from her on Sunday.

So far as we are aware, neither the Antislavery League nor the Federal under-cover dry enforcement service has yet used a Boy Scout as an agent provocateur. We commend the example of Patrolman Dunn to their attention.

MR. KELLOGG'S GOLF GAME.

The Prince of Wales: I hear you've been golfing. How's your game?

Secretary Kellogg: Fine, fine.

This exchange occurred at the dedication of the international peace bridge. Mr. Kellogg's response, we feel sure, will be pronounced the clumsiest preparation extant.

Nobody's golf game ever was fine. Of course, Bob by Jones after his pinnacular performance at St. Andrews, might have admitted he was pretty good. With that exception, which is cheerfully allowed, everybody's golf game, from dufferdom to stardom, is "a" ways terrible.

Possibly the princely presence demands the rosy reply. The point of etiquette in question is one we cannot pass on. If such be the law, however, we can demur with authority. In Locksley Hall, which Mr. Ford recently quoted, Tennyson remarked: "Cursed be the social lies which warp us from the living truth." We stand with Tennyson in this momentous issue.

That is what Mr. Kellogg should have done. He should have said: "Prince, I conform ordinarily to the social usages. But when you ask me about my golf game, rank disappears. In the democracy of golf there is neither East, nor West, border, nor breed, nor birth." As man to man, then, as one poor erring creature to another, let me tell you my golf game is rotten."

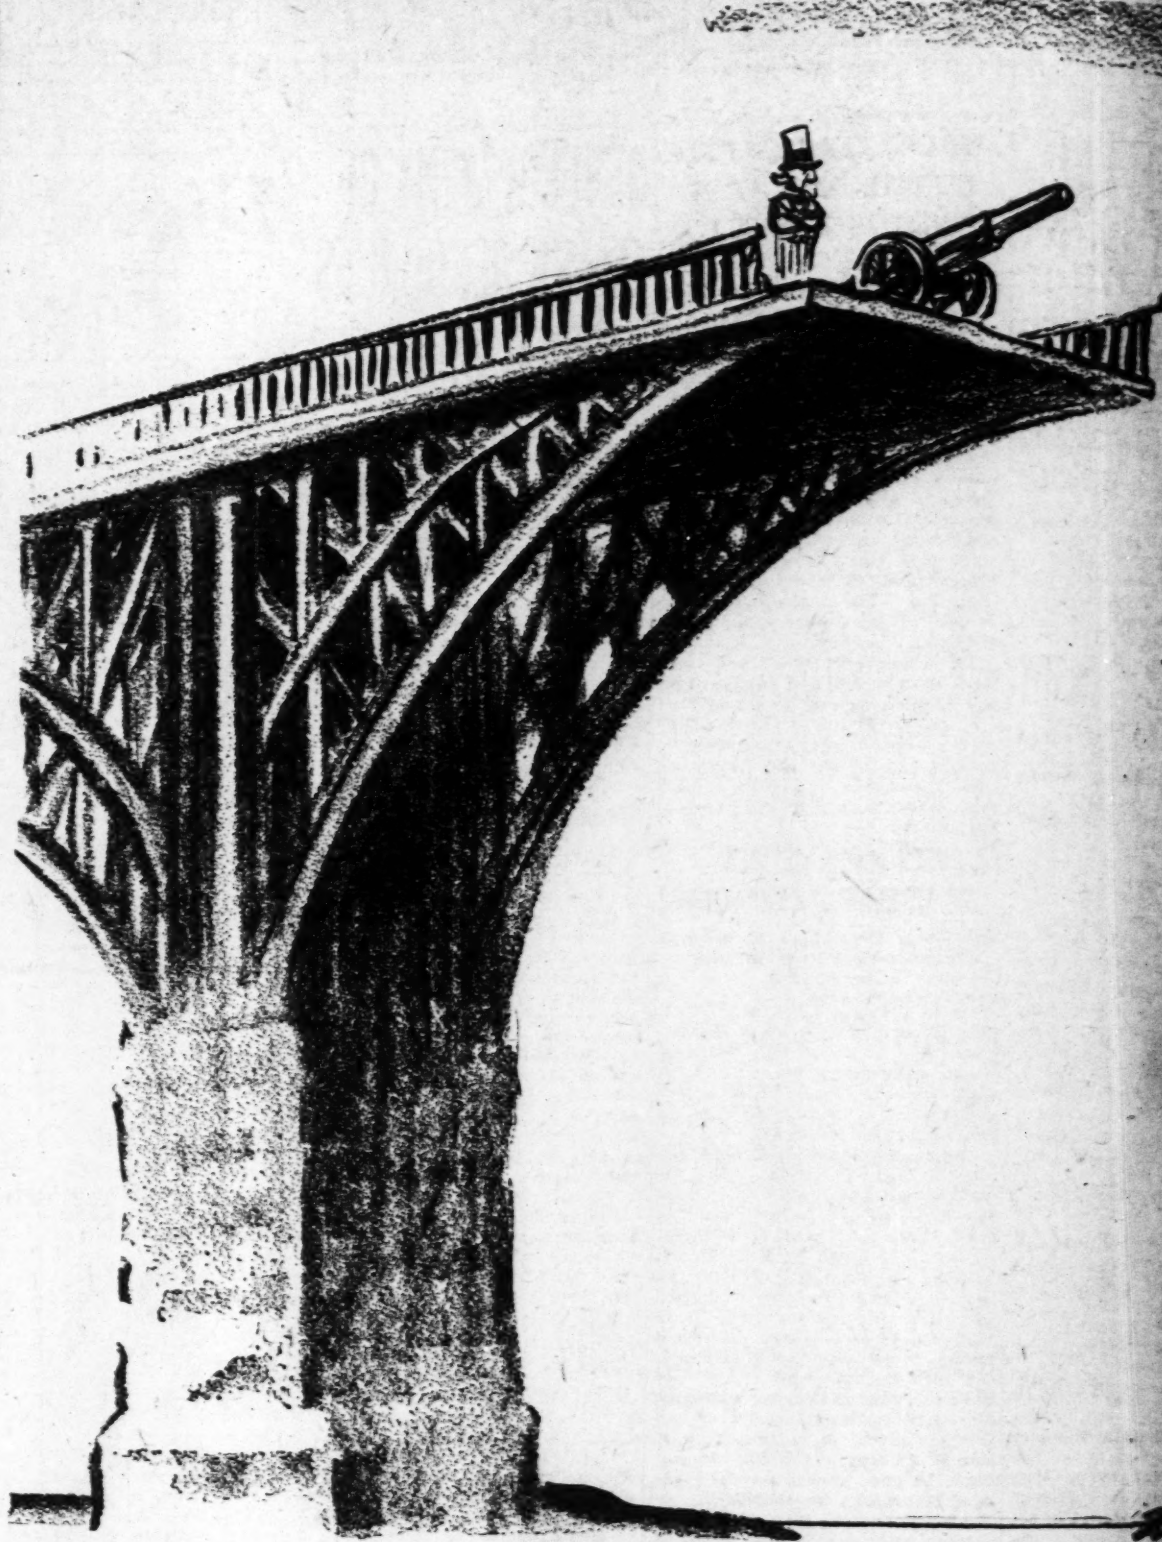

And what would H. R. H. have said? This, on a bet: "Shake, my dear chap. So is mine."

ALABAMA FREE AGAIN.

The Ku Klux Klan of Alabama is probably convinced that flogging is too hazardous a pastime to be further indulged in. The law has dealt promptly and justly with the mob that mistreated the country boy, Jeff Calloway. The ring leader and his first lieutenant have each been given prison sentences of from eight to ten years. Five others involved were, by compromise, permitted to plead guilty and sentenced to pay fines of $500 and serve six months in jail.

In this prosecution honors seem to be equally divided between Judge Steele who presided at the trials and Attorney-General McCall. The juries that returned the verdicts are entitled to honorable mention. It is a fair presumption, too, that public sentiment in the town of Oneonta was a factor.

The whole State is to be congratulated. The long reign of the Klan's terrorism down there is seemingly ended. Alabama is free again.

OUR PEACE BRIDGE TO LATIN AMERICA.

Wanted: A Substitute for the Monroe Doctrine

From the Chicago Tribune.

THE Monroe Doctrine is not a satisfactory declaration to the other republics of the two Americas. It was intended to be and when it was incorporated in Monroe's 1823 message to Congress it probably was. Now it is a material benefit but a sentimental failure. It gets good results but no good will.

Possibly for present day relations it contains a necessary principle in a tactless form. To an important extent it deals with stable, self-sustaining and dignified nations. The United States might look about for another form in which to declare its purposes.

Suppose Chile or Brazil or Argentina or other competent countries to the south were offered treaties of mutual protection against aggression from Europe or Asia. In its original concept the Monroe Doctrine did not guarantee American countries freedom from attack one upon another. It was, in the first instance, to prevent the overthrow of the new republics and their recapture by the Holy Alliance and to stop further colonization.

In the hundred and more years of the growth and development of the doctrine it has been isolated as a principle of the United States alone, in the application of which no other country is involved. It has a mutuality of benefit but none of spirit. It has assumed that in certain cases other nations would be compelled to accept our protection whether they wanted it or not. We have ignored the sovereignty of the other nation.

The manner of the grand patron has not made a sentimental success of itself and there is a reasonable ground for belief that the doctrine, as it stands, reached in treaties, might put an entirely different aspect on the entire question. This would recognize the intangibles of national being which have been thoroughly ignored in our assumption that the flat American dictate covered the whole problem.

Now the Monroe Doctrine is resented in Latin America as if it were a declaration of sovereignty over all the other countries. It is resented as if it were authority for the wholesale political corruption in India, the Latin republics as the gospel of what they call Yankee imperialism. They describe it not as a measure by which they are guaranteed what they have but by which America approaches what it wants. Americans are so unconscious of imperialism in their makeup that they cannot follow Latin ideas, but they gather enough to know that there is more dislike of America than confidence in it.

Practically, the Monroe Doctrine exhibits as its justification a long period of peace. It is concerned with the only great division of the world's territory which has had such freedom for so many years. Nearly every other part of the world is troubled by the intervention of Europeans. Japan is virtually the only country outside of the western hemisphere which is free from the dominance of European power. South and Central America are not so undesirable as to find in their unattractiveness a reason for their immunity.

The United States has adhered to the policy that it is undesirable to have the European complex in this part of the world. It still holds good so far as we can perceive benefits, although we certainly would not wish the land occupied by Canada, changed in the character of population and government to conform with anything to the south of us. We might even consider a speculation as to what good or evil would evolve from possession of Venezuela by the Dutch or of Colombia by the Italians. Possibly a better development for our own purposes, better government, higher culture, stable conditions, better trade and all around improvement in the human conditions of the hemisphere.

We might assume that the United States, in the hundred years and more of progress since the announcement of the Monroe Doctrine, has made itself so secure that it can undertake more immediate contact with Europe and can allow that culture and industry to be transplanted even under home direction and with home allegiance. The probability is that such a position would be dismissed as untenable for Americans, but for Latin America—what find animosity in the Monroe Doctrine it might contain a germ of thought.

The better thing for the present, we are certain, is to find a substitute in form for the Monroe Doctrine and have it express in declarations the mutual aims and purposes of nationality in this hemisphere, assuming that it is as important to Chile, Argentina or Brazil to have this doctrine apply to the United States as it is to the United States to have it apply to Latin America.

TWO UNPUNISHABLE EDITORS.

THE other day in Canton, Ohio, a handsome new building to house the Canton Daily News was dedicated to the memory of Don R. Mellett, its editor, who paid with his life for his fearless attacks upon the criminals of Canton and their allies, the police of the city. About the same time the former Chief of Police of Canton was sentenced to death for his share in the cowardly assassination of Mr. Mellett, who deserves a public memorial as well as the private one now dedicated. And when we read every day of the fresh revelations of the wholesale political corruption in Indiana now being exposed by D. C. Stephenson, the Grand Dragon of the Indiana Ku Klux Klan, who is in jail for life, we cannot fail to recall that this exposure is due to two unpunishable editors, Boyd Gurley of the Indianapolis Times, a Scripps-Howland daily, and Thomas L. Adams of the Vincennes Commercial. Mr. Adams started the fight; Mr. Gurley helped to carry it on. Both risked a good deal; both deserve medals of honor from their State; both merit the acclaim of all good journalists.

Incidentally, with one Governor of Indiana in the penitentiary, these editors have been able to call upon the present Governor Jackson either to explain his connection with Stephenson or to resign. It will not be the fault of these editors if there is not a political uprising in Indiana.

GOES TO MONTREAL

Miss Martha Hurley.

MISS HURLEY, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John T. Hurley of 4459 West Pine boulevard, has departed for Montreal, Canada, to spend the remainder of the summer. Miss Hurley will make her debut in the fall.

room is the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Bryant of Los Angeles, Cal. He attended University of Southern California and is a member of Sigma Chi.

The bride's only attendant was Miss Lorraine Dulaney Field of St. Louis, a cousin, and Elmer Ireland served as best man for Mr. Bryant. Only the immediate families were present and after a wedding breakfast at the Mary Louise Hotel Mr. Bryant and his bride left for Lake Tahoe to spend the honeymoon. They will be at home after Aug. 20 at 421 South St. Andrew place, Los Angeles, Cal.

Sally H. Player, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Yeatman Player of 5117 Clemens avenue, and Mrs. Alexander, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. Alexander of 1000 Broadway, New York, were married at Asheville, N. C., where they will spend the remainder of the year.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Coleman, residents of the Senate Apartments and their daughters, Miss Elizabeth and Miss Mary Fred, have returned from a six-day motor trip through the western states. Miss Elizabeth will enter the Ogontz school in Philadelphia in the fall and her sister will be a senior at the University of California.

Miss Harrietta Boyer of Hawthorn, Ga., who has been the guest of her aunt, Mrs. John L. Anderson Jr. of 525 Clara avenue, has departed for Asheville, N. C., and Rogersville, Tenn., where she will attend house parties before returning to her home. Miss Boyer visited in St. Louis several days and was complimented by a number of parties. She accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Anderson on a motor trip East, where she was entertained at a house party in the Adirondack Mountains.

Miss Jane Montague of Memphis, Tenn., is the guest of her aunt, Mrs. W. Eldred Long and Mr. Long of Jefferson Barracks. A number of parties will be given in honor of Miss Montague during her visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip von Phil have returned from a trip to Europe. Mr. von Phil, formerly of 1000 Broadway, has taken possession of an apartment at 5563 South avenue. Miss von Phil, Miss Janet Cooke of 5572 South avenue left Saturday for a motor trip to the Adirondack Mountains.

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Green of Washington boulevard and their daughter, Miss Dorothy, have returned from a motor trip to Canada and through New England states. Miss Green has gone to Ludington, Minn., where she is spending a month as the guest of Miss Grace Green of Columbus, O., a former classmate at Miss Bennett's school in Milbrook, N. Y. Miss Green, who was graduated from Bennett's School in June, will make her debut in the fall.

Mr. John Brodhead of 4550 Washington avenue, and her children, who have been at Point aux Roches, Mich., are visiting in Detroit. Mrs. Brodhead's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Hamilton Farwell of 521 Westminster place, will depart Aug. 17 for Atlantic City, where they will spend the remainder of the summer.

William J. Homer of 18 Princeton avenue has returned from a visit to his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Anderson, at their home, El Estero, Wyoming. He accompanied Mrs. Anderson home after a bout with Willa.

During the last of our pondering moments, we wondered if Mussolini or Hitler ever petitioned heaven for assistance.

CHURCH CONFEREES
WORKING ON CREED

World Meeting of Various Denominations Trying to Agree on Doctrinal Statement.

LAUSANNE, Switzerland, Aug. 9.—The World Conference on Faith and Order entered the second stage of its work when its 500 delegates, representing nearly all Christian denominations, began behind closed doors yesterday the preparation of reports on the doctrine.

These reports are to be presented to the entire conference on Thursday. Since more than 20 different languages are spoken by the delegates, the task of providing interpreters for the commissions and their sub-committees is taxing the resources of conference leaders.

The general sessions have shown that there are three main elements represented here. The Anglicans of Great Britain and the British Dominions, the American Episcopalians and the so-called free churches, including Methodists, Wesleyans, Presbyterians, Congregationalists, Lutherans, Baptists and other Protestant churches outside the Anglican and Episcopal churches, constitute the second element; and the third is the Eastern Orthodox church, represented by a majority of its most powerful patriarchs.

Among the chairmen of the commissions are Dr. William Adams Brown of Union Theological Seminary, who heads the commission studying the subject of the "nature of the church"; Dr. Adolf Deissmann of Berlin, head of the commission on "The Church's Message to the World"; and Canon Tislington Tatlow of London, heading the commission dealing with the "church's common confession of faith." The last named commission will consider the question of creed.

Bishop F. J. McConnell of Pittsburgh, Methodist, is vice chairman of Dr. Deissmann's section.

New York Mayor Going Abroad. By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—Twenty-five dress shirts are in the clothing outfit Mayor Walker will take abroad tomorrow night. He hopes to meet British royalty, Mussolini, Hindenburg, and the Pope.

CHICAGO, Aug. 9.—Mme. Yvonne Gall, French prima donna, made her debut at the Ravinia opera last night before one of the largest audiences of the season in the title role of Massenet's opera, "Thaïs." Later she will appear as Marguerite in "Faust." Miss Mary Lewis, American prima donna, will make her debut tomorrow night as Giulietta in "The Tales of Hoffman."

Mellon at Adriatic Resort. POLA, Italy, Aug. 9.—Andrew W. Mellon, Secretary of the Treasury of the United States, has arrived at the Island of Brioni, in the Adriatic, for a short stay.

Yvonne.....William J. McCarthy
Monsieur de Saint-Amand.....Charles Anderson

Before a crowd of surprising proportions in the face of the threatening weather and on a stage so wet and slippery that the principals and chorus had a difficult time in keeping their feet the Municipal Opera Company began the next to the last week of the light opera season in Forest Park last night presenting Victor Herbert's tunesful comic opera, "The Serenade."

It has been many years since this old favorite of the Bostonians was heard in St. Louis. Jessie Bartlett Davis, H. Clay Barnabee and Alice Neilson were among the members of that famous organization who were seen here in "The Serenade" in days long past. The music of Mr. Herbert is as catchy today as it was then, but Harry B. Smith's book, despite the "ad libbing" of William McCarthy in the comedy role of Gomez, is replete with the "gags" of another age.

The piece has been elaborately staged for this revival and last night all of the singers were in excellent voice. Anne Yago was charming as Dolores, the ward of the old Duke of Santa Cruz who loves Alvarado, a singer of Madrid. Her rendering of the well known "Angelus" song in the second act was one of the high spots of the opening performance.

Paul Klemm, as Alvarado, has not been heard to better advantage on the Forest Park stage and John Dunsmore, with his fine bass voice, was excellent as Romero, leader of a timid bandit gang. But the honors of the evening fell to Charlotte Woodruff, Miss Woodruff had the role of Yvonne, a dancer from Madrid who also loves, or thinks she does, the fickle Alvarado. She is a dashing, beautiful daughter of old Spain in the part and scored a great hit with her solo "Cupid and I" and in the singing of "In Fair Andalusia" with a male chorus.

Next Monday night the Municipal company will end its regular season by giving Franz Lehar's light opera, "Gypsy Love" and the following week will be given over to grand opera with a special company, headed by Marion Telva in "Tales of Hoffman."

FLY-TOX

Your Doctor Will Confirm This.

The fly's mouth and tongue are covered with fine hairs. Consequently some of the filth in which they mess cling to them. And the microscope discloses these tiny drops of unspeakable uncleanness alive with bacteria—disease germs.

A fly may infect anything it touches. Milk, food, baby's eyes, open wounds are favorite sources of infection.

But with Fly-Tox a house can be kept free of flies and similar insects. Fly-Tox is fragrant, stainless. Fly-Tox is harmless to humans but sure death to flies, mosquitoes and similar disease-carrying insects.

YOUTHS' ACCUSER DIES ON WITNESS STAND

New Yorker, 76, Attends Wife's Funeral Before Facing His Alleged Assaults.

By Leased Wire from the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—Dennis Clifford, 76 years old, sat in the witness chair before Magistrate Douras in Morrisania Court and tried to still the trembling of his hands. But the more he tried, the more they trembled, and finally he slumped out of his chair and fell unconscious on the floor, within a few minutes he was dead.

Clifford had come to court to testify against two youths he accused of assaulting him. The young men are Edward Dunn, 24, and John Clark, 22. He would have been in court before, only he had had to attend the funeral of his wife, Mary, 30 years younger than he.

Perhaps that was why his hands trembled so and why he kept slumping lower and lower in his chair. Or perhaps he sensed once more the approach of tragedy. It had made its first appearance, he testified, when his son-in-law, Walter McCormack, assaulted his wife, Mary. She had McCormack arrested July 19, charging that he knocked her down and kicked her in the face with his wooden leg, fracturing her nose and jaw. She was to have appeared against him in court a week ago yesterday, but, Sunday night, July 31, she was killed by an automobile at 136th street and Third avenue.

Her husband had been due to appear the same day against his two alleged assailants, but his wife's death had prevented him. His wife had told the police when she had McCormack arrested that he had struck her because she refused to accept the attentions of two strange men he brought to her home. The men had $150, she said, and when she refused to entertain them, her son-in-law became infuriated with her.

The two men he had accused of assault were held without bail for the grand jury by Magistrate Douras.

Mrs. Eleanor McCormack, whose husband was accused of assisting her mother, was in court when her father died.

PATROLMAN SUSPENDED AS BRIBE TAKER REINSTATED

Board Exonerates Policeman Joseph T. Arnold and Frames Him for Dry Law Activities.
Patrolman Joseph T. Arnold, of the Mounted Police District, who was suspended July 28 when charged with accepting $150 from a bootlegger for protection, was reinstated and exonerated of all charges against him and commended for his activity against dry law violators at yesterday's meeting of the Board of Police Commissioners.

Arnold's suspension followed a written statement to Capt. Hanna of the Mounted District by Modesto Gentilini, of 6020 Loretta avenue that he had given the policeman $150 to prevent the arrest of an Italian on a liquor charge. He said the money had been given Arnold July 5 when they met by appointment at the Mounted District station. Gentilini said he learned of the demand for protection when the Italian came to him to borrow money.

Gentilini is a former detective who was suspended in 1924 for making a false report. He was later reinstated but resigned from the force a year ago.

WARRANT FOR DRIVER OF AUTO IN WHICH 3 WERE KILLED

Leroy Glenn Charged With Manslaughter for Smash-Up in Which Seven Were Hurt.

A warrant charging manslaughter was issued at Belleville today against Leroy Glenn, of O'Fallon, driver of an automobile in which two sisters and a youth were killed Sunday night in a collision with another machine three miles east of Belleville.

Because Glenn is still in a serious condition, due to the accident, in which seven persons were injured, service of the warrant has been deferred. Glenn's machine struck an automobile driven by George P. Schulenberg of 2525 Giles avenue, St. Louis. State's Attorney Lindauer announced witnesses had told him Glenn was driving at high speed.

MRS. J. K. ERSKINE JR. BURIAL

The body of Mrs. John K. Erskine Jr. of St. Louis and New York, who died in the American Hospital at Paris, June 25, after a lengthy illness, is being returned to St. Louis for burial. It will be put on a steamer Friday, and arrive in St. Louis about Aug. 22. Burial will be in Bellefontaine Cemetery.

A sister, Mrs. Pierre Chouteau Scott, of the Forest Park Hotel, St. Louis, and her daughter, Miss Marie Louise Scott, who were with Mrs. Erskine in Paris are accompanying the body. Mrs. Erskine lived at the Ansonia Hotel, New York, but passed last winter here at the Forest Park Hotel and St. John's Hospital. She was a daughter of the late George L. Keller.

Helen Dine, Actress, Gets Divorce.
Specs to the Post-Dispatch.
HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Aug. 8.—Helen Dine, motion picture actress, wife of Rudolph Myzet, actor, has been granted a divorce on the grounds of cruelty. She characterized Myzet as "a tiger man in men's clothing." In testifying he hurled dishes at her and slapped her.

Have Your Furnace Cleaned Now— Prevent Fire

CLEANING—Prolongs the life of smoke pipe, by keeping it clean. Removes soot from furnace smoke pipe and chimney. Many fires are caused by soot in chimneys and smoke pipe. Coal is wasted as soot acts like an insulator.

INSPECTION—After furnace operates 24 hours daily for over six months, 180 days, dangerous defects often develop, which are Fire Hazards. Inspection brings these to light so they can be corrected.

ADJUSTMENT—Of chains, regulators and dampers, for better and quicker operation will save fuel and work and give you more heat for your money.

The Holland Giant Suction Cleaner cleans all makes of furnaces, hot water and steam plants. It draws out all dirt, dust, soot and ashes and takes the dirt away. The cost is moderate and you can get proper inspection and adjustment of your heating system at the same time.

Write or phone for full particulars, or ask for a Holland representative to call at your convenience, day or night. He will refer you to thousands of users, many in your neighborhood.

KILLING FROSTS IN CANADA HURT WHEAT CROP MOST

Prices Advance Five Cents a Bushel
and Other Grains Rise in Sympathy.

CHICAGO, Aug. 9.—The extent of the cold snap and accompanying frost over sections of the Canadian grain belt today was being watched with anxiety as reports of more frost were received.

The effect of the unseasonable weather on the grain situation was reflected on the markets where grain prices soared, especially on wheat which was the most seriously damaged by the cold. Prices advanced approximately five cents a bushel. Other grains went up in sympathy more than because of crop injury.

The cold wave sent the mercury down to as low as 22 in parts of Saskatchewan, virtually ruining the grain crops throughout that area as far as commercial purposes were concerned, and adding millions of dollars to the financial outlook of American grain farmers.

One point in North Dakota reported a killing frost and other frosts were forecast in Northern Minnesota and Eastern North Dakota, as well as in Manitoba and Saskatchewan tonight.

No frost was reported in the corn belt, but the forecast was for cooler weather.

Grain crops in Alberta were not affected.

DYE TRUST EMPLOYEES FREED

Three Men Were Accused of Attempts to Sell Formulas for $200,000.

By the Associated Press.

HOECHST, Germany, Aug. 9.—
Three employees of the Germany
Dye Trust are alleged by the police to have been caught in an attempt to sell the manufacturing secret of certain products to English interests.

The police say they found the formulas hidden in the men's socks. They also claim to have found a contract fixing the purchase price of the secrets at $200,000
marks (about $207,000). The alleged contract also promised air passage to England, naturalization
there, and steady employment, with a share of the profits. The law does not cover mere attempts of such nature, and the three men were released.

Open-Air School Graduation.

address the class.

College Struck by Lightning Burns.
JACKSON, Miss., Aug. 9.—Bel-haven College was destroyed by fire early today as a result of a stroke of lightning during a severe electrical storm. Fire companies fought the blaze for more than three hours.

WAYNE MODERN HOME EQUIPMENT

Oil Heat — Electric Refrigeration Soft Water

Three Great Essentials of Home Comfort
Now Brought to You by Wayne

For over 36 years the Wayne Company has specialized in the manufacture of precision devices for industrial and home use—winning in that period an enviable reputation for engineering
skill and high quality of manufacture.

With such a background and experience, it was perhaps natural that Wayne should be first to recognize the economies to be effected by combined mass production of home utilities, passing on the benefits to the user
in the form of lower cost and convenient, centralized service.

Convinced of the soundness of this policy, the Wayne Company devoted years to research and thousands of dollars to experimentation with domestic oil heating, electric refrigeration and water softening.

Scores of units were built, rebuilt and dismantled as Wayne engineers sought still greater efficiency and perfected performance from the home equipment

products that were to bear the name of Wayne.

Today in the Wayne Oil Burner and in Wayne Electric Refrigeration, Wayne has duplicated its earlier success with the Wayne Water Softener
—designed for use in homes having a hard water supply.

In its first test, the Wayne Oil Burner passed the rigid requirements of the Underwriters' Laboratories, Inc. This endorsement was followed by the approval of the New York City Bureau of Standards and Appeals and other similar organizations.

And recognition of Wayne Oil Heat
by the highest authorities has been backed by the judgment of thousands of users, who saw in it the perfection
and moderate cost they had long sought
in oil burner equipment.

In developing Wayne Electric Refrigeration, Wayne engineers have produced both a mechanical unit of marked simplicity and a cabinet design that materially assists in the preservation of perishable foods. Results have been achieved in home refrigerating service
never before attained outside of far costlier installations for large hotels and shops.

DEALER OPPORTUNITY
A bigger opportunity for dealers to make money exists in the Wayne Modern Home
Equipment franchise today than ever before.
With the addition of the new Wayne Electric Refrigerator—sales and profits will jump in both winter and summer.
Get the facts—your territory may still be available but you must act fast if you are going to reap this money-making possibility—an opportunity that only comes at rare intervals.
Address your inquiries to Wayne Company, Fort Wayne, Indiana

We cordially invite you to compare Wayne Modern Home Equipment with any similar devices you may now have in mind. The nearest Wayne dealer will gladly explain in detail the many advantages of Wayne products. Your visit implies no obligation.

MODERN HOME EQUIPMENT

WAYNE the perfected OIL BURNER • WAYNE ELECTRIC REFRIGERATION • WAYNE WATER SOFTENER

Wayne, the perfected Oil Burner

The culmination of years of development. All the comforts of automatically controlled warmth—the cleanliness—the healthifulness and the ultimate economy of oil heat are brought to their highest pitch in the Wayne.

The Wayne Electric Refrigerator

Here is another example of the finer engineering
and superior construction which set Wayne products apart. Made in self-contained outfits with metal cabinets or remote equipment for converting your present
ice-box into electric refrigeration.

The Wayne Water
Softener

Wherever the natural water supply is hard—the Wayne Water Softener
brings all the benefits of soft water in an unlimited supply. Eliminating the formation of hard water scale in plumbing and boilers, it is ideal for laundry, cooking,
shaving and shampooing
and similar purposes.

LAWUIT OVER FIGHT PICTURES

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—The International Newsreel Corporation is charged with "surreptitiously" filming the Dempsey-Sharkey fight at the Yankee Stadium, "pirating" the resulting pictures, and underselling the company authorized to take the pictures, in a complaint filed in the Supreme Court today by the Goodart Pictures, Inc., and the Rickard Sporting Club, Inc. The complainants ask an injunction and damages, but do not specify any amount.

EUROPE THINKS
U. S. TOO SEVERE
WITH CRIMINALS

Regards Long Sentences Imposed by American Judges Return to "Cruelty of Middle Ages."

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—European experts regard the "long sentences recently imposed by certain American judges" as a return to the "cruelty of the Middle Ages," according to a study recently completed by Dr. Louis N. Robinson, secretary of the National Crime Commission's subcommittee on pardons, parole, probation, penal laws and institutional corrections. His study is incorporated in a report to the commission.

Although Dr. Robinson did not mention the New York State's Baumea statutes, he said investigation he had made in Europe showed no similar tendency toward more severe penalties or a harsher prison regime. Most of the cities abroad, he said, were dealing with crime through prevention. They were depending upon reasonably "mild penalties on a large proportion of those who offend." Americans, he pointed out, seem to "think that crime can be held in check by punishing severely an insignificant fraction of our criminals."

Police Free From Politics. "They," he said, speaking of the cities he had visited, "have built up nonpolitical police forces that make it decidedly risky for an individual to engage in crime."

Frank O. Lowden, former Governor of Illinois, is chairman of the subcommittee for which Robinson made the study. Four countries, England, Belgium, Holland and Germany, were visited. The study will be made part of the record of the National Crime Commission. "I cannot stress too strongly," said Dr. Robinson in his report, "the fact that I saw no idleness in European prisons; this in great contrast to what is visible in many of our great prisons and in nearly all of our county jails."

He also found that fines were being substituted to an increasing extent for prison terms, with the result that the prison population is decreasing.

Pay Fines in Installments. In the United States, he pointed out, punishment can be avoided by the rich. The poor, given a choice of a fine or a term in jail, have to serve the jail sentence. "This difficulty is being overcome abroad by permitting the payment of fines on the installment plan. Dr. Robinson said he found no "coddling" of prisoners, but "a thorough going over of what is being done with and for criminals." This is leading to the scrapping of many accepted theories, he said.

He was chiefly impressed, however, by the fact that in Europe crime was kept down by swift, certain, but moderate punishment. An investigation in two Missouri cities, he said, had revealed that only 8 per cent of arrests had been made in 14,000 felonies. Only 3 per cent of the defendants in these cases pleaded guilty or were convicted. "To trust in the efficacy of punishing severely the 3 per cent while allowing the 97 per cent to escape scot free," he said, "would scarcely appeal to a European as an example of our boasted efficiency or our hard common sense." Dr. Robins declared that escapes from European prisons are virtually unknown, although the physical ones are far less formidable structurally than in America.

Now One of Favorites.

By Davison Obeart.

FOREST PARK, Aug. 9.

George Jennings Jr., of Chicago, in the opening match of the national public parks tennis championship here this afternoon by defeating Jack Delara, Los Angeles, straight sets. The score was 6-1, 6-2, 6-1.

The Chicago star's victory was his first upset in the men's singles play as Delara was seeded No. 1 in the draw and was rated one of the title favorites.

Jennings held the advantage all through the match. He exhibited all-round game, gaining many points by brilliant net play.

Delara showed a marked weakness in backhand strokes.

Jennings now appears a strong contender for the men's singles crown. His actions on the court are reminiscent of the style of an amateur French star.

Chicago scored another victory over Charles Lejeck, eliminated in the first round match, 6-1, 6-1.

Lejeck won the first and second sets with apparent ease, but the Philadelphia player put up a battle before losing the third.

Louis Schaefer, Buffalo, defeated Irving Moss, Detroit, 6-3, 6-3, 6-2.

Pairings for the men's doubles will be made tonight and first-round matches will start tomorrow afternoon as scheduled. Teams have been entered from Buffalo, Philadelphia, Washington, Detroit, St. Louis, Chicago, East St. Louis, University City, Baltimore and St. Louis.

The Fade-Out.

THOSE channel swimmers, once the rage, can barely make the second page; They used to give us quite a kick, But now they only get a "stick."

WHAT'S THE USE?

When Lindy made his solo flight over the Atlantic the old English Channel just curled up and quit. You can't compete with That kind of stuff.

Now is the merry season of the year when there is either the penitence or the hay fever. Thanks to the onrush of the Cubs and the indifferent performance of the Red Birds we have the penitence fever pretty well under control.

However, we're not out of woods yet. A protracted winning streak might bring on a relapse any time.

The man on the sandbox says if the Yankees were playing in China or Japan they might lose the pennant. They have earthquakes and things over there.

See where the Browns have released Chester Falk, the greatest warm-up pitcher in either league. It won't seem like the same old bull-pen.

There may be better pitchers in the world than Falk, but he was always ready to rescue work. The fact that he never saved anything is no reflection on his good intentions and earnestness of purpose.

Chet has been a prospect for three years. But, like the old hymn, "sweet prospects, sweet birds and sweet flowers" have all lost their sweetness to Phil.

The passing of Br'er Falk would indicate that the business of wrecking the Browns has begun.

POSITIVELY.

If to run you do not choose, It's a cinch you cannot lose.

"Pants Team Held to 4 Hits But Wins." It's a cold day when the Pants get a coat of whitewash.

If garters were worn around the neck as suggested by a certain ad, it would be perfectly appropriate to wear a collar and necktie around your legs.

THE OLD BINGLE.

"Waner Brothers Regarded as Best Place Hitters." SOME guys, perhaps, can call their shots. When landing on the ball; But lots and lots and lots and lots Are glad to hit at all.

TOO TRUE.

Regardless of the outside world at large Tex Rickard should arrange to broadcast the fight for the benefit of the general admission boys on the outer fringe of Soldiers' Field who will want to get an inkling of what is going on in the arena.

YEA, BO.

The ring-side guys may see the fight. But, oh, the poor suburbanite! With the aid of spy glasses the customers in the outlying districts might see what is going on. But a pair of good binoculars would cost as much as a ring-side seat. What to do! What to do!

In a pinch one might stay away, but that would be unpatriotic and a distinct knock to the gent whose sole object in the enterprise is the uplift of Chicago.

SEMI-FINALS OF NORTH HILLS GOLF TOURNEY THIS WEEK

Finalists in the North Hills Golf Club championship tournament will be decided this week when J. W. Carpenter meets N. M. Lelli and T. D. Shaeffer plays C. M. Morton. Carpenter's defeat of R. Fish, 1 up, was the feature of the quarter-final matches. Lelli defeated W. W. Ferrell in another close match, 1 up at the eighteenth hole. Shaeffer won easily from Dr. R. E. Mason, 5 and 4. C. Morton defeated E. R. Thompson, 2 and 1.

American Boat Wins York Trophy

Special to the Post-Dispatch. SOUTHAMPTON, England, Aug. 9.—"Little Spitfire," the motor boat owned by Mrs. J. H. Rand Jr., of New York and piloted by Ralph Snoddy of Los Angeles, today won the Duke of York gold trophy. "Little Spitfire" had a total of 12 points for the three days racing and the nearest British competitor had but six points. The American boat won today's heat in 62 minutes and 53 seconds, attaining an average speed of 23.6 knots an hour.

THE SUN NEVER SETS ON CHESTERFIELD'S POPULARITY

[ Popular in all 4 corners of the Earth... ]

in London...

where fine tobacco is a part of fine living

EVER since Sir Walter Raleigh brought the first tobacco home from America, the Londoner has made fine tobacco a part of fine living.

So it is only natural that he should be quick to appreciate the pure natural tobacco taste and fragrance of Chesterfield.

By his preference, London takes its place among the world capitals of Chesterfield's popularity.

GILBERT, STAR WITH CARDINAL CLUB BACK IN 1908, DEAD

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—Veteran baseball men who remember the teams and players of 20 and 30 years ago today mourned the passing of William O. Gilbert, once member of the famous Baltimore Orioles, second baseman with the New York Giants in 1902 and 1903, and later scout for the Newark

Club of the International League. Gilbert died yesterday at his New York home from apoplexy. He was 52 years old.

Two National League pennants and one world's championship were gained by the Giant team of which Gilbert was a member. He teamed with Devlin, Dahlen and McCann to give the Giants one of the smoothest working infields of their history.

After his release from the Giants at the end of the 1906 season, he joined the St. Louis Cardinals and ended his major league career two years later with that club.

JURY FREES AUTO DRIVER OF MANSLAUGHTER CHARGE

Nelson C. Scott Was Tried as Result of Accident in Which Henry W.
White Was Fatally Hurt.

After deliberating 10 minutes, a jury in Circuit Judge Rosskopf's court yesterday freed Nelson C. Scott of a charge of manslaughter in an automobile accident. An automobile driven by Scott ran down Henry W. White, 67 years old, 2228 Gravois avenue, as White ran into Jefferson avenue at Victor street to board a street car, Jan. 16, 1936. White died of his injuries three days later.

Witnesses testified at the trial that the street car motorman had held open the front door several seconds, waiting for White. Scott, a switchman, testified he had driven behind the street car for six blocks, making stops as the car stopped. At the corner where he struck White, he had waited for four men to depart by way of the side door of the car and then started forward. His vision of the sidewalk was obscured by a mail box, telegraph pole and tree grouped closely together, he testified. He did not see White until his machine struck him, he said. Scott lives at 3149A California avenue.

S. TO CONTROL
INDIAN'S FORTUNE
OF $1,000,000

Judge Assails White
Wife Who Kidnaped
Jackson Barnett, 77, as an Adventurer.

10,000 CHARITY
GIFT SET ASIDE

Property Accumulated and Still Growing as Result of Oil Discovery on His Land Allotment.

Leased Wire from the New York
Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—White
no longer will prey on the oil
mine of Jackson Barnett, 77,
old Indian of Oklahoma, who has checks with his thumb print comprehends only vaguely the meaning of any sum above $1000.
by decision of Federal Judge
C. Knox. Barnett's wealth, amounting to more than $1,000,
and still growing as a result oil royalties, is to be turned over to the Secretary of the Interior, who will manage it for the Barnett.

The decision declares null a gift of $550,000 Barnett was induced to give the Baptist Home Mission Society for its Bacons School for Blacks in Muskogee, Ok. It also strikes transfer of $550,000 to Barnett's white wife, a former dancer, with a grown daughter,
"eloped" with Barnett in 1923.

Declared an Adventurer.
Judge Knox describes the wife
as an "adventurer," who "kidnaped" Barnett. She was to establish a trust fund for him out of the money she received, he concludes, after giving her attorney $15,000 or more.

"At the same time, and in an effort to make this transaction
irrevocable," the decision adds, "a charity was remembered
the extent of $100,000."

Barnett, who worked for 50 cents
a day at any labor that came to hand before oil was discovered his allotment of land in the Oklahoma reservation, has been lived ever since then in a tangle litigation beyond his understanding, and has had only patient smiles for the whites who substituted such excitement over his fate.

The action was brought here by
S. Bailey of Tulsa, appoint-guardian for Barnett by an Oklahoma court. The defendants were Baptist Society and the Equi-Trust Co., which had custody
the money Barnett was led to the Indian school.

Wife Hired Press Agent.
During trial of the action, last week, Mrs. Barnett was in court with her husband, helping him "get his rights," as she explained to newspaper men. The man now accused as primer
in the process of divesting himself of his funds, also hired an agent for the purpose of putting his claims before a public.

Reviewing the case, Judge Knox
said:
"Here is an illiterate Indian in the neighborhood of 77 of years of age, who, until he became wealthy was allowed to shift
himself and to eke out an existence as a bent he could. This he did in a more or less haphazard way until oil was found on his allotment of land in Oklahoma.
At that time until the present
has been the shuttlecock in a series of battles in which the loses were high.

"Solicited and importuned for donations to which he readily afforded his thumb print for most anyone who asked it; kidnaped and carried by an adventurer; harassed and annoyed by his attorneys and their allies, who enlisted support of officials of the Government and who were probably convinced of the justification of their subsequent action, he was finally induced to part with Liberty bonds
the vast sum of $1,200,000."

Gave $462,000 in a Day.
After pointing to donations of $2,500 made to various institutions by Barnett in one day, Judge Knox added:
"I am strongly of the opinion that the gifts which purport to have been made by Barnett cannot be regarded as his acts and must be held to be void of no effect. The alleged donor had no real comprehension and understanding of what he was induced to do."

The decision also points out that very shortly after the Indian turned over the $1,200,000 in bonds "he was at the instance of his wife,
deprived to be incompetent by a part of California."
